Reds Continue To Hit Matsus With Artillery

Quemoy, Kaoteng Shelled For Third Consecutive Day

TAIPEI, Formosa, Dec. 30 —UP—The Chinese Communists and Nationalists exchanged artillery barrages Friday in what may be a prelude to an invasion of the Matsus Islands outpost.

The shelling was reported at Quemoy Island, southernmost Nationalist position just off the Red Chinese port of Amoy, and at Kaoteng, outpost for the main Matsus Island defenses above Formosa's northern tip. There were no reports of casualties.

It was the third consecutive day of artillery action in the Matsus area. From China leaders flew to the island Friday to inspect defense fortifications. They said Communist preparations portended a possible invasion of Matsus and a re-kindling of the Formosa crisis.

(In Washington, Army Secretary Wilber M. Brucker said Friday he saw no indication of an impending Chinese Communist attack on the islands when he made his recent Far Eastern inspection trip. He conceded that his impression is not shared by the Communist Nationalists. He described artillery duels of the past as "just harassing fire.")

2 Youths Killed In Auto-Train Crash In Wilmot

WILMOT, Ark., Dec. 30 (Special)—Two young Negroes were killed and one injured in a car-train accident here about 5:45 p.m. Friday at a Missouri Pacific railroad and street crossing.

Dead were Leo Vance, 17, whose address was given as Detroit, Mich., and Arthur Stokes, 22, of near Wilmot.

Stokes' 13-year-old brother, Sterling, received lacerations on the head and was being treated in the Lake Village, Ark., Infirmary. His condition was termed as "fair."

The accident occurred, according to Wilmot Mayor V. L. Oliver, who is also a Missouri Pacific company employee, when the Negroes' car attempted to cross the railroad at a side-street crossing and collided with a southbound freight train.

Mayor Oliver said the train was traveling about 45 m.p.h. and that the car's driver had clear visibility for a mile each way. He added that there were no warning signals or lights at the crossing.

Driver of the car could not be determined tonight.

Vance, who died instantly, suffered a severe head cut.

Arthur Stokes was taken to the Lake Village Infirmary, where he died about two hours later.

The bodies of Vance and Stokes will be in the charge of Jones Funeral Home, Hamburg, Ark.

Phony Bomb Stops Vehicular Traffic At Times Square

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—A scare stemming from a phony bomb in Christmas wrappings closed Times Square to pedestrian and vehicular traffic for almost an hour today.

The device consisted of a ticking clock with wires attached to two six-inch long cardboard tubes, all contained in a 10x14-inch shirtbox covered with green Yule-type paper.

A newsstand operator, hearing the ticking, discovered the box in a street trash basket. He handed it over to Patrolman Harry Reinhardt in the Square's police information booth. Reinhardt turned in a police alarm.

Police closed the Square to traffic while bomb squad members examined the device.

When they concluded at about 3:30 p.m. that the mechanism was a dud, traffic was allowed to resume.

Fire Commissioner Edward F. Cavanagh Jr. said that mystery package was "deliberately designed to simulate a bomb."

Eastern Germans Drop Threats To Barricade Barges

BERLIN, Dec. 30 —UP—East German Communists backed down Friday on their threat to block passage of barges carrying vital supplies to isolated West Berlin.

The Reds informed barge operators that permits on transit canals into Berlin would continue to be recognized. The decision calmed fears that the old permits might lose their validity Jan. 1.

East Germany, after it was granted sovereignty by Russia, had demanded East-West German talks on a ministerial level regarding use of Soviet Zone canals to supply Berlin with goods from the West.

Communist propagandists backed up the demands with warnings that barge permits would be no good in the new year, thereby cutting off an important supply route.

West German traffic ministry officials confirmed the Communist turnaround Friday. West Berlin traffic director Otto Theuner said the Reds have assured barge owners the permits will not expire Dec. 31 as Communist propagandists have threatened.

Theuner expressed the belief the East German government does not want to press the issue. The Communists announced their position despite West German rejection of the East German request for high-level traffic talks.

Woman Suspect Free On Bond Total Funds Missing In Virginia Swindle Put At Approximately $1 Million

NORFOLK, Va., Dec. 30 (AP)—Bank examiners continued today to try to fit together the jig-saw puzzle of Minnie C. Mangum's accounting system to find the total of a nearly million-dollar swindle blamed on her by the building and loan firm she helped operate for 23 years.

The plump 52-year-old spinster was free on $25,000 bail while the reputation she enjoyed because of her generosity to church, charity and friends crumbled about her.

Miss Mangum was charged with the theft of $100,000 over the past 12 months. But the president of the firm she served in the hiring-and-firing job of assistant secretary-treasurer said the shortages probably would show another $300,000 over the past five years.

Preliminary court action against her was deferred today at the prosecutor's request when the case was called in Police Court. The hearing was rescheduled for Feb. 7 to allow time for completion of the complicated audit now in progress.

Railroads Plan Freight Rate Hike On February 25

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The nation's railroads today gave formal public notice of their intention to raise freight rates by 7 per cent, effective Feb. 25.

The public notice was filed with the Interstate Commerce Commission. The ICC earlier this week authorized the industry to pursue a shortcut method for making the rate revisions.

Originally, the railroads planned a Feb. 9 effective date, but acting ICC chairman J. Monroe Johnson said last Tuesday such a timetable was much too short.

The ICC has said that under the public notice procedure the project rate change will be subject to protest by shipping interest and possible suspension action by the commission prior to the effective date.

The railroads have proposed that hearings on the revision be held after the increase is put into effect, the carriers pledging refunds if the ICC eventually rejects all or any part of the 7 per cent.

The industry said in its statement to the commission today that every day of delay in raising the rates means a loss of $1,600,000 in revenue.

The industry contends the increase is necessary to meet railroad wage increases and continuing hikes in material costs.

The railroads said the 7 per cent hike will "do no more than preserve" the current earnings position of carriers.

Nation Orders Heavy Patrols Of Highways

Many Guardsmen To Aid Police In Holiday Crackdown

CHICAGO, Dec. 30 —UP—The New Year holiday weekend began Friday with one of the most intensive drives in the nation's history to hold down the slaughter on the highways.

The United Press prepared to tabulate traffic fatalities from 6 p.m. Friday until midnight next Monday.

The National Safety Council estimated that during this period 420 persons will die, a new record for a New Year holiday if the figure is reached.

Across the nation state and local law enforcement agencies prepared to throw every available resource into a grimly determined fight to save lives.

The country was aroused by the tragic toll of "black Christmas" last weekend, when an all-time, all-holiday record of 621 deaths was posted.

In addition, the Safety Council announced that deaths for the year will total 38,500 making 1955 one of the deadliest on record.

Only in 1936, 1937 and 1941 were there more than 38,000 traffic deaths on the nation's streets and (Continued On Second Page)

Kennon Orders National Guard To Patrol Roads

BATON ROUGE, Dec. 30 (AP)—Public Safety Director Chester Owen said today it was "stupid" for holiday merry-makers to "throw their chance of enjoying the holidays away in one split second of speeding, weaving in and out and drinking."

Owen, in a prepared statement, said he was "very glad to know that our governor has called out the National Guard to help us in policing the state's highways and in stopping the needless, reckless and drunken driving over the New Year holiday weekend."

Owen noted that National Safety Council figures estimated that 38,500 would be killed in traffic accidents in 1955.

He said this was 5,000 more than were killed in the Korean War. "We are really improving," Owen added. "Even with our modern methods of warfare we are killing more on the highways than the war. Holiday means a day of recreation and rest; for too many of us it means a day of permanent rest."

Prior to Owen's statement, Gov. Robert Kennon called on the National Guard to aid in cutting down "the criminal slaughter and maiming of our citizens by careless motorists."

Mr. Gen. Raymond H. Fleming said he has ordered guardsmen stationed at key points in 44 cities and towns in the state both Saturday and Sunday.

The soldiers will post signs along major highways warning motorists to drive carefully. Other guardsmen will set up observation posts along highways leading out of heavily populated areas.

Gov. Fleming said the governor told him he has become deeply concerned about the rise in traffic deaths during the holidays and is intent on doing all possible to stop it.

Senate Probers Charge Matusow's Lies Part Of Far-Reaching Red Plot

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—The Senate Internal Security subcommittee said Friday that confessed liar Harvey Matusow's flip-flop in testimony was part of a far-ranging Communist plot to block the investigation and conviction of Reds.

The subcommittee called for prosecution of the turnabout witness as well as attorney Nathan Witt, publisher Albert E. Kahn and "others" for conspiracy to obstruct justice.

In a blistering 104-page report, the subcommittee said Matusow was lying when he swore he lied. This referred to the one-time government witness' assertion this year that he lied in earlier testimony linking 244 persons with communism.

Chairman James O. Eastland (D-Miss.) said in a statement, "the subcommittee has every reason to believe that Matusow had been telling the truth all along until he again fell into the hands of Communists."

The subcommittee report said the Matusow case was "a collective product of the Communist conspiracy."

"Its immediate goal was to secure new trials in the cases of Communist leaders who had been convicted," the subcommittee said.

"Its broader and long-range goals were to discredit government witnesses, the Department of Justice, the courts, the FBI and congressional investigative committees, and thus to immobilize the prosecution and investigation of the Communist conspiracy. In addition, it was seized upon to provide new fuel for the Kremlin's anti-American campaign."

One member of the subcommittee, Sen. Thomas C. Hennings (D-Mo.), said he was "forced to take exception" to certain "basic matters and conclusions" in the report. He said he would release a statement of his own views in a week or 10 days.

The subcommittee said Matusow's book "False Witness," in which he recanted his earlier testimony, "is a confession of falsehoods" prepared under direction of Witt and Kahn, each of whom refused to say whether they were Communists.

The report said Matusow "lied" (Continued On Second Page)

Eisenhower Says 'Peaceful' Release Major U. S. Goal

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower today served notice on Soviet Russia that peaceful liberation of captive peoples in Red satellite nations "will continue to be a major goal of United States foreign policy."

This position was set forth in a White House statement personally approved by the President in reply to sharp criticism of him voiced yesterday by Nikita Khrushchev, Russia's Communist party boss.

Khrushchev accused Eisenhower of violating the spirit of the Geneva summit conference and of "arbitrary interference" in the affairs of Eastern Europe. The Red leader said the interference came in the President's Christmas message broadcast to the people of that Soviet-dominated area.

In that message, the President assured his Eastern European listeners that Americans share their "concern for the restoration of individual freedoms and political liberty."

Khrushchev's blast was the first time any Kremlin chief had loosed such an attack on the President since before the Geneva conference of last July. Khrushchev also aimed his criticism at Secretary of State Dulles, because of a message he beamed at the satellites.

The U.S. reply was in a statement issued by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after it had been approved by Eisenhower as well as Dulles.

"The peaceful liberation of captive peoples," the statement said, "has been, is, and—until success is achieved—will continue to be a goal of United States foreign policy."

The statement made it clear the captive peoples mentioned are those in the Soviet satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

Eisenhower, in Key West for further convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack, approved the statement at the end of a three and a half hour work session which (Continued On Second Page)

President, Eden To Seek Accords On Asian Threat

LONDON, Dec. 30 —UP—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Anthony Eden will seek a closer alignment of British and U.S. policies in the tense Middle East and Far East during their talks next month, informed sources said Friday.

The sources said preparations for the talks beginning in Washington next Jan. 30 are "well advanced." Present arrangements call for five days of talks. Eden may address Congress while in Washington.

Informed sources disclosed that Eden will take his top policy advisers on Middle East and Far East affairs to Washington. That was taken as an indication that priority consideration will be given to problems of both vital areas.

The sources stressed there were no major differences between British and the United States on major international issues. But they pointed to the absence of a firmly aligned, concrete Anglo-American policy approach to the two key areas.

Argentina Rebels Slated For Exile In Patagonia

BUENOS AIRES, Dec. 30 (AP)—The provisional government is slating to ship 125 "troublemakers," including many Peronista diehards in civilian and military ranks, to virtual exile on the chill, windswept flats of southern Patagonia.

These men have been arrested over a period of a week by government authorities bent on smashing three "subversive" plots aimed at overthrowing Provisional President Pedro Aramburu's regime by fires, sabotage and strikes.

Whether former President Juan D. Peron is secretly directing his supporters from exile in Panama is not known. But copies of a purported letter from him to "all Peronistas" are being circulated. The letters, bearing the signature "Juan Peron in exile Dec. 1, 1955," say:

"I still am the chief of the Peronista forces and nobody can invoke my representation. If there are elections without Peronism all good Peronistas should abstain from voting. This is my order from exile."

There also are reports a record is being sold covertly in Buenos Aires, with tango music on one side and a Peron speech on the other. Peron's private secretary, Felipe Redaglia, recently visited Paraguay, where Peron first went into exile after the September revolt, but has since returned to Panama.

A series of suspicious fires have plagued Argentina. One destroyed a dockside customs warehouse where new cars whose importation by the Peron regime was under investigation. Another dock fire damaged several nearby navy ships. Twenty persons have been arrested in connection with a strange pre-dawn railroad station fire at Cordoba yesterday.

Reports said the 125 troublemakers already bagged will be confined under the government's get tough policy in the Rawson Federal Prison in bleak Chubut Province in southern Argentina. One report said they already are there.

Widely known and respected among members of his profession, Dr. Cutler was classed among the best physicians and surgeons.

A native of Kansas, Dr. Cutler studied at Kansas University. He later went to Northwestern University medical school and his advanced study was completed at Mayo Clinic and at Harvard.

Dr. Cutler was a member of the staff at St. Francis Hospital where he was chief of medicine, head of cardiology and at one time served on the hospital executive board. He was a member of the American Medical Association, the Louisiana Medical Association and of the Ouachita Medical Association.

He was a diplomat of the American College of Medicine and a member of the American Board of Medicine.

In the business world, outside his profession, Dr. Cutler served on the board of directors of the Ouachita Candy, of Monroe.

Dr. Cutler spent four years in military service during World War II and was discharged with a rank of captain.

Eisenhower Says 'Peaceful' Release Major U. S. Goal

KEY WEST, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—President Eisenhower today served notice on Soviet Russia that peaceful liberation of captive peoples in Red satellite nations "will continue to be a major goal of United States foreign policy."

This position was set forth in a White House statement personally approved by the President in reply to sharp criticism of him voiced yesterday by Nikita Khrushchev, Russia's Communist party boss.

Khrushchev accused Eisenhower of violating the spirit of the Geneva summit conference and of "crude interference" in the affairs of Eastern Europe. The Red leader said the interference came in the President's Christmas message broadcast to the people of that Soviet-dominated area.

In that message, the President assured his Eastern European listeners that Americans share their "concern for the restoration of individual freedoms and political liberty."

Khrushchev's blast was the first time any Kremlin chief had leveled such an attack on the President since before the Geneva conference of last July. Khrushchev also aimed his criticism at Secretary of State Dulles, because of a message he beamed at the satellites.

The U. S. reply was in a statement issued by James C. Hagerty, White House press secretary, after it had been approved by Eisenhower as well as Dulles.

"The peaceful liberation of captive peoples," the statement said, "has been, is, and—until success is achieved—will continue to be a goal of United States foreign policy."

The statement made it clear the captive peoples mentioned are those in the Soviet satellite countries of Eastern Europe.

Eisenhower, in Key West for further convalescence from his Sept. 24 heart attack, approved the statement at the end of a three and a half hour work session which (Continued On Second Page)

President, Eden To Seek Accords On Asian Threat

LONDON, Dec. 30 —UP—President Eisenhower and Prime Minister Anthony Eden will seek a closer alignment of British and U. S. policies in the tense Middle East and Far East during their talks next month, informed sources, said Friday.

The sources said preparations for the talks beginning in Washington next Jan. 30 are "well advanced." Present arrangements call for five days of talks. Eden may address Congress while in Washington.

Informed sources disclosed that Eden will take his top policy advisers on Middle East and Far East affairs to Washington. That was taken as an indication that priority consideration will be given to problems of both vital areas.

The sources stressed there were no major differences between Britain and the United States on major international issues. But they point to the absence of a firmly aligned, concrete Anglo-American policy approach to the two key areas.

Long Says He's 'Best Friend' La. Negro 'Ever Had'

VACHERIE, Dec. 30 (AP)—Former Governor Earl Long said last night that Gov. Robert Kennon has "a double entry" in the Louisiana governor's race.

He listed administration candidate Fred Preaus and New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison as belonging to "the Kennon stable."

Long told the predominantly Negro audience that he was "the best friend the colored people ever had."

He said if he was elected to another term as governor Negro citizens would be given the same facilities as white people.

All school children, he said, would receive hot school lunches and the "old colored people" would get $65 a month old age grants, the same as white welfare recipients.

Long said voting was on the increase in Louisiana because the state had no poll tax.

"My brother Huey," he said, referring to the late Governor and U.S. Senator Huey P. Long, "died getting the free poll tax in this state."

Most responded by mustering additional manpower to police the roads and by issuing harsh warnings to New Year Eve revelers who attempt to drive while drunk.

Gov. George Leader of Pennsylvania threw an "unprecedented" force of more than 1,200 state police into the fight and ordered all drunken drivers seized and remanded for jury trial.

For the first time in its history Illinois summoned more than 200 National Guardsmen to duty in what Gov. William G. Stratton called "highway martial law."

Michigan ordered more than 200 National Guardsmen and Arizona also was using troops to help cope with the emergency.

Gov. Frank J. Clement of Tennessee mapped one of the most intensive campaigns, including 1,000 volunteer National Guardsmen, 200 Guard jeeps and ambulances on the highways and Air Guard planes aloft to spot violators.

Texas also ordered 112 Safety Department inspectors to help out the Highway patrol and told officers to "throw away" their warning ticket books and make arrests of all violators.

Help In Getting Industry Pledged By Ex-Gov. Long

Ringgold, Dec. 30 (Special)—Louisiana's smaller towns and cities need industry and Earl K. Long said here Friday "If there's a chance in the world, I'll get them."

Long opened a two-day swing through northwest Louisiana with rallies in Red River Parish and moved into Bienville and Webster before concluding the day with a rally in Bossier City.

In the home territory of Gov. Robert Kennon, near Minden, Long continued his attack on the administration programs and its hand-picked candidate Fred Preaus.

Said Long, "I haven't anything against little Mr. Preaus. He just doesn't know anything about government." He said Preaus was picked by Kennon after other politicians had turned the governor down, but Kennon had to have a candidate in order to use the campaign war chest he had made up, despite a pledge that he would take no part in naming his successor.

Long said Kennon also has broken his campaign promise to reduce the state debt and increased it instead by $200 million. He broke his promise to economize, Long said, and the state spent $350 million more during the Kennon administration than any in history.

Asserting he would run his own campaign, Long ridiculed New Orleans Mayor deLesseps Morrison's urging that he get on television. The former governor said he "wasn't competing in a beauty contest."

Long reaffirmed his stand for segregation as "best for the white people and best for the good colored people." Long said both races want segregation.

DONALDSONVILLE, La., Dec. 30 (AP)—James McLeMore charged tonight that Mayor deLesseps Morrison, one of his opponents in the governor's race, is responsible for the graft revealed in the New Orleans police department.

He said that as a result of the graft revealed in assistant city police Supt. Guy Banister's report, "Morrison never will be elected governor and never will be re-elected mayor."

McLeMore said Morrison replaced one superintendent and brought in another "only under pressure and after he had decided to run for governor."

He was referring to Provost Daryles replacing Joseph Scheuering, who resigned under pressure. McLeMore, making his second run for governor, said he was the only candidate in 1952 to take a firm stand on law enforcement and "my views have not changed."

He charged that the administration of Gov. Robert Kennon pardoned 72 convicted narcotics violators in three and a half years. "We think that is unpardonable," he said.

good order at Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn., one of the largest in eastern Virginia. He went on to explain that by this he meant one person had too much access to the books and records.

Others close to the investigation said a Navy wife fired by Miss Mangum as "a trouble maker" had a bearing on the investigation.

Mrs. Esther Marie Cannon, fired by Miss Mangum only a couple of months after she was hired, was back on the job today. An argument between the two women while auditors were in the bank—reportedly over the disappearance of an account card—was given as a factor.

It was reliably reported Mrs. Cannon, who had previous banking experience, contacted federal officials after her discharge. Miss Mangum said she liked to have untrained girls and train them her own way.

Roy Phillips, the firm president, said Miss Mangum admitted last week she had taken money from the firm over a number of years and employed a complicated system of keeping accounts in balance.

He said she had restored about $200,000 in real estate, cash and bonds to the firm since the shortage was uncovered. The real estate included her own modest bungalow in Portsmouth where she lived with a blind sister, Maude, and seven other houses.

The woman's penchant for lavish gift-giving, to needy and favored friends and relatives, continued until the bubble burst. On Dec. 22, court records show she transferred three Baystate lots valued at $15,000 to a relative.

Miss Maude Mangum, the blind sister, talked with a reporter today at the home where she has lived with Miss Minnie for 37 years.

"That girl is innocent," she said. "My sister has been wonderful to me."

She said she, Minnie and her mother had lived together until her mother's death earlier this year and her sister had devoted a great deal of care and money for medical attention to her invalid mother.

"Then our brother died," said Maude Mangum. "And now this! But we'll make out." She said she has four other sisters and a brother.

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—East German Premier Otto Grotewohl returned Friday from a "friendship" tour of the Far East and the Soviet Union with a warning that Red China is ready to fight for Formosa.

"The Chinese people unanimously support the peace policy of their government," Grotewohl said in his arrival speech. "They are ready to stand together to fight for the return of Formosa to the motherland."

(Chinese Nationalist reports in Taipei Friday indicated new fears that the Red Chinese might soon attack the Nationalist island outposts off the Chinese mainland, and re-ignite the Formosa crisis.)

Grotewohl flew here from Moscow after a three-week trip to Communist China, North Korea and Outer Mongolia.

The East German premier said he had succeeded in setting up close friendship ties with Red China and other nations of the Far East. "In the question of the security of our nations and the inviolability of our territories, there are complete agreement between our states," Grotewohl said.

In Peiping on Christmas Day, Grotewohl and Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai signed a friendship and mutual co-operation pact.

he is also acting as interior minister—said Chassagne had been charged with corrupting a civil servant.

But Chassagne told newsmen he knew of no official charges placed against him.

"I never asked for any posing of pictures," Chassagne declared. "I never saw the gendarme before. I have never seen him since and I certainly never bribed any gendarme."

Chassagne's statement put the government in the position of backing up its charges against him or retracting.

Jacques Duhamel, top staff aide for Premier Faure, hustled over to see Chassagne personally last night at the Movietone Paris offices. Chassagne would say only that they held a purely private talk. The Interior Ministry kept silent.

But early today Faure's office had a so-called authorized source tell the French News Agency that the bribery accusation "does not seem to be corroborated" by the investigation in progress.

Marshall Marks 75th Birthday In N. Carolina Today

PINEHURST, N.C., Dec. 30 (AP)—Soldier-statesman George C. Marshall will mark his 75th birthday quietly tomorrow.

The wartime chief of staff reads each telegram and letter carefully. They are saved, along with a pile of Christmas cards still stacked on a table in his living room.

President Eisenhower, now in Key West, sent word that "this year it is a deeply felt privilege" to wish Marshall a happy birthday.

Mrs. Eisenhower joined in good wishes to the retired general and Mrs. Marshall.

Former President Truman, during whose administration Marshall was secretary of state and secretary of defense, wrote his wishes for "many more" birthdays.

"He is one of the finest friends I have," Truman commented. James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, who preceded Marshall as secretary of state, said:

"In war and in peace, Gen. Marshall has rendered magnificent service to his country. I join his countless friends in wishing him, not only a happy birthday, but good health and true happiness through many years I hope lie ahead for him."

Marshall will be a guest tomorrow at a luncheon given by James Bruce, a former ambassador to Argentina. Tomorrow night other friends will give a dinner for him.

He was keenly disappointed that bad weather has delayed a visit by financier Bernard Baruch. Baruch was to have arrived today, but now plans to come to Pinehurst early next week.

Reminiscing briefly about his long Army and government career, Marshall said one of his greatest satisfactions was the fact that "we were able to get the passage of" the Marshall Plan for European recovery enacted by Congress.

Crossword

GONE. However, he would learn that he had NONE. Furthermore, NONE is the more likely word as the man may be in a store, in which case he would hardly be GONE.

20. ODE is best. Note the clue reads "to Christmas" not "about" or "on" Christmas. This points to ODE for ODES are usually described as written TO a person or thing. If the answer were ONE the clue would read "on Christmas" or "about Christmas."

29. LITTLE is best. Is there any reason why a particular LETTER should be overlooked and why is it "quite likely?" But in all the excitement and disorder even the most meticulous housewife will likely be willing to overlook the LITTER of Christmas wrappings, etc.

31. SWAT is more apt. The clue refers to crowd sitting up and cheering which points to a grandstand and therefore a baseball or football game. It is in baseball that a "long one" is ALWAYS desirable. SHOT, as in shooting or in golf, is therefore out. SWAT, as commonly referred to in baseball, fits the clue perfectly.

32. SET is best. A NET actually keeps it in place but a SET, of having it SET helps to keep it in place.

CLUES DOWN:

8. DATE is best. It is the superstitious person who will blame misfortune on the DATE but it by no means indicates that you are superstitious if you blame a thing on FATE.

11. TRUCK is best since good work is needed. In the case of TRUNK we do not know if the TRUNK is full or empty and an empty one might be quite easy to move around.

15. PUN is best. A POINTLESS PEN is MORE than "somewhat annoying." It is completely useless. PIN might be acceptable except that you would hardly refer to it as "the PIN." The PUN without a point can be somewhat annoying.

17. It's nice to see some little girl's DOLLY on the tree. You would hardly put HOLLY on the green Christmas tree as it would look out of place.

18. HEAT is best. Since he collapsed at the tape we know that the FEAT WAS too much for him. There was no "may have been" about it. But it MAY have been the HEAT, or other reasons, for the FEAT being too much for him.

19. JOY is the more direct answer for it is not the TOY that causes the little boy's face to beam but actually the JOY of getting the TOY.

22. CARES is the best answer because it is the more comprehensive. It includes CARDS and anything else which may be weighing on his mind.

23. SENT best fits the clue which says "may have to be." Anything LENT implies that IT must be returned, not "may have" to be. RENT or BENT are more restricted in their use than SENT.

27. ELSE is best. Little ELSE would mean little EASE anyway. ELSE is more apt because this includes EASE - movies, trips, visiting, or any other spare time pursuit.

Boy Burned Here As Hair Tonic Bottle Breaks

Hair tonic apparently ignited by the flames of a closed gas heater inflicted extensive first and second degree burns upon 17-year-old Bradford Bryant of 610 Alabama street Thursday night when a bottle of the tonic slipped out of his hands and broke on a washbasin in the bath room of his home.

Young Bryant, clad only in shorts at the time, suffered burns of both legs from the waist down and all so received burns of both hands. He said the hair tonic splattered over his legs and the floor and ignited when the bottle broke. He received the burns on his hands while fighting the fire.

Cledy Bryant, Bradford's 21-year-old brother who was also in the room at the time, finally smothered out the blaze with some clothing, possibly saving Bradford's life.

The Bryants expressed surprise that such an accident could happen. The victim's mother said the heater is closed and isn't located by the wash basin.

Bradford, a student at Ouchitla high school, was admitted to Wright - Bendol Clinic for treatment. He is expected to receive a blood transfusion at 9 a.m. today and needs a donor of O Positive blood.

McLeMore said Morrison replaced one superintendent and brought in another "only under pressure and after he had decided to run for governor."

He was referring to Provost Dayries replacing Joseph Scheuerling, who resigned under pressure.

McLeMore, making his second run for governor, said he was the only candidate in 1952 to take a firm stand on law enforcement and "my views have not changed."

He charged that the administration of Gov. Robert Kennon pardoned 72 convicted narcotics violators in three and a half years.

"We think that is unpardonable," he said.

good order at Commonwealth Building and Loan Assn., one of the largest in eastern Virginia. He went on to explain that by this he meant one person had too much access to the books and records.

Others close to the investigation said a Navy wife fired by Miss Mangum as "a trouble maker" had a bearing on the investigation. Mrs. Esther Marie Cannon, fired by Miss Mangum only a couple of months after she was hired, was back on the job today. An argument between the two women while auditors were in the bank—reportedly over the disappearance of an account card—was given as a factor.

It was reliably reported Mrs. Cannon, who had previous banking experience, contacted federal officials after her discharge. Miss Mangum had said she liked to hire untrained girls and train them her own way.

Roy Phillips, the firm president, said Miss Mangum admitted last week she had taken money from the firm over a number of years and employed a complicated system of keeping accounts in balance.

He said she had restored about $200,000 in real estate, cash and bonds to the firm since the shortage was uncovered. The real estate included her own modest bungalow in Portsmouth where she lived with a blind sister, Maude, and seven other houses.

The woman's penchant for lavish gift-giving, to needy and favored friends and relatives, continued until the bubble burst. On Dec. 22, court records show she transferred three BaySide lots valued at $15,000 to a relative.

Miss Maude Mangum, the blind sister, talked with a reporter today at the home where she has lived with Miss Minnie for 37 years.

"That girl is innocent," she said. "... My sister has been wonderful to me."

She said she, Minnie and her mother had lived together until her mother's death earlier this year and her sister had devoted a great deal of care and money for medical attention to her invalid mother.

"Then our brother died," said Maude Mangum. "And now this! But we'll make out." She said she has four other sisters and a brother.

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—East German Premier Otto Grotewohl returned Friday from a "friendship" tour of the Far East and the Soviet Union with a warning that Red China is ready to fight for Formosa.

"The Chinese people unanimously support the peace policy of their government," Grotewohl said in his arrival speech. "They are ready to stand together to fight for the return of Formosa to the motherland."

(Chinese Nationalist reports in Taipei Friday indicated new fears that the Red Chinese might soon attack the Nationalist island outpost off the Chinese mainland, and re-kill the Formosa crisis.)

Grotewohl flew here from Moscow after a three-week trip to Communist China, North Korea and Outer Mongolia.

The East German premier said he had succeeded in setting up close friendship ties with Red China and other nations of the Far East.

"In the question of the security of our nations and the inviolability of our territories, there are complete agreement between our states," Grotewohl said.

In Peiping on Christmas Day, Grotewohl and Chinese Premier Chou En-Lai signed a friendship and mutual co-operation pact.

he is also acting as interior minister—said Chassagne had been charged with corrupting a civil servant.

But Chassagne told newsmen he knew of no official charges placed against him.

"I never asked for any posing of pictures," Chassagne declared. "I never saw the gendarme before, have never seen him since and I certainly never bribed any gendarme."

Chassagne's statement put the government in the position of backing up its charges against him or retracting.

Jacques Duhamel, top staff aide for Premier Faure, hustled over to see Chassagne personally last night at the Mervette Paris offices. Chassagne would say only that they held a purely private talk. The Interior Ministry kept silent.

But early today Faure's office had a so-called authorized source tell the French News Agency that the bribery accusation "does not seem to be corroborated" by the investigation in progress.

Marshall Marks 75th Birthday In N. Carolina Today

PINEHURST, N.C., Dec. 30 (AP)—Soldier-statesman George C. Marshall will mark his 75th birthday quietly tomorrow.

The wartime chief of staff reads each telegram and letter carefully. They are saved, along with a pile of Christmas cards still stacked on a table in his living room.

President Eisenhower, now in Key West, sent word that "this year it is a deeply felt privilege" to wish Marshall a happy birthday. Mrs. Eisenhower joined in good wishes to the retired general and Mrs. Marshall.

Former President Truman, during whose administration Marshall was secretary of state and secretary of defense, wrote his wishes for "many more" birthdays.

"He is one of the finest friends I have," Truman commented. James F. Byrnes, of South Carolina, who preceded Marshall as secretary of state, said:

"In war and in peace, Gen. Marshall has rendered magnificent service to his country. I join his countless friends in wishing him, not only a happy birthday, but good health and true happiness through many years I hope lie ahead for him."

Marshall will be a guest tomorrow at a luncheon given by James Bruce, a former ambassador to Argentina. Tomorrow night other friends will give a dinner for him.

He was keenly disappointed that bad weather had delayed a visit by financier Bernard Baruch. Baruch was to have arrived today, but now plans to come to Pinehurst early next week.

Reminiscing briefly about his long Army and government career, Marshall said one of his greatest satisfactions was the fact that "we were able to get the passage of" the Marshall Plan for European recovery enacted by Congress.

Crossword

GONE. However, he would learn that he had NONE. Furthermore, NONE is the more likely word as the man may be in a store, in which case he would hardly be GONE.

20. ODE is best. Note the clue reads "to Christmas" not "about" or "on" Christmas. This points to ODE for ODES are usually described as written TO a person or thing. If the answer were ONE the clue would read "on Christmas" or "about Christmas."

29. LITTLE is best. Is there any reason why a particular LETTER should be overlooked and why is it "quite likely?" But in all the excitement and disorder even the most meticulous housewife will likely be willing to overlook the LITTER of Christmas wrappings, etc.

31. SWAT is more apt. The clue refers to crowd sitting up and cheering which points to a grandstand and therefore a baseball or football game. It is in baseball that a "long one" is ALWAYS desirable. SHOT, as in shooting or in golf, is therefore out. SWAT, as commonly referred to in baseball, fits the clue perfectly.

32. SET is best. A NET actually keeps it in place but a SET, of having it SET helps to keep it in place.

CLUES DOWN:
8. DATE is best. It is the superstitious person who will blame misfortune on the DATE but it by no means indicates that you are superstitious if you blame a thing on FATE.

11. TRUCK is best since good work is needed. In the case of TRUNK we do not know if the TRUNK is full or empty and an empty one might be quite easy to move around.

15. Pun is best. A POINTLESS PEN is MORE than "somewhat annoying." It is completely useless. PIN might be acceptable except that you would hardly refer to it as "the PIN." The PUN without a point can be somewhat annoying.

17. It's nice to see some little girl's DOLLY on the tree. You would hardly put HOLLY on the green Christmas tree as it would look out of place.

18. HEAT is best. Since he collapsed at the tape we know that the FEAT WAS too much for him. There was no "may have been" about it. But it MAY have been the HEAT, or other reasons, for the FEAT being too much for him.

19. JOY is the more direct answer for it is not the TOY that causes the little boy's face to beam but actually the JOY of getting the TOY.

22. CARES is the best answer because it is the more comprehensive. It includes CARDS and anything else which may be weighing on his mind.

23. SENT best fits the clue which says "may have to be."

Boy Burned Here As Hair Tonic Bottle Breaks

Hair tonic apparently ignited by the flames of a closed gas heater inflicted extensive first and second degree burns upon 17-year-old Bradford Bryant of 610 Alabama street Thursday night when a bottle of the tonic slipped out of his hands and broke on a wash basin in the bath room of his home.

Young Bryant, clad only in shorts at the time, suffered burns of both legs from the waist down and also received burns of both hands. He said the hair tonic splattered over his legs and the floor and ignited when the bottle broke. He received the burns on his hand while fighting the fire.

Cledy Bryant, Bradford's 21-year-old brother who was also in the room at the time, finally smothered out the blaze with some clothing, possibly saving Bradford's life.

The Bryants expressed surprise that such an accident could happen. The victim's mother said the heater is closed and isn't located in the wash basin.

Bradford, a student at Ouachita high school, was admitted to Wright - Bendel Clinic for treatment. He is expected to receive a blood transfusion at 9 a.m. today and needs a donor of O Positive blood.

Negro College Reports 'Definite Progress' In Southern Integration

By REX THOMAS

TUSKEGEE, Ala., Dec. 30 (AP)—The South made "definite progress" toward racial integration in 1955, says Tuskegee Institute, even in areas "where tension or conflict predominates."

But there was no indication of "substantial adjustment or of extensive conflict," President L. H. Foster observed in his second annual race relations report.

"There are islands of tension and conflict in areas where adjustment has been made," he commented, "and some measures of adjustment are noted in areas where tension or conflict predominates."

"Over-all, there seems to be definite progress toward desegregation."

The race relations report was inaugurated last year to replace the annual lynching survey which the famed Negro school used for two decades to measure white and Negro relationship. The lynching report was abandoned because Dr. Foster said it no longer accurately mirrors racial feelings.

Looking toward the new year the Tuskegee president said further improvement in race relations "seems possible through many avenues."

"Recent court decisions established a climate of permissiveness in human relations within the framework of the clearly stated principle that segregation in public services on the basis of color or race is contrary to federal law," he wrote in his report.

"Continued improvement... can come if leaders at all levels take increased initiative in promoting democratic discussions and responsible action on community problems and on opportunities for healthy community development."

As evidence of progress, Dr. Foster called attention to the growing list of court decisions resulting from basic integration rulings by the Supreme Court. He also mentioned the Interstate Commerce Commission's antisegregation decree on interstate travel and waiting rooms.

Although no Southern state has enacted legislation to promote desegregation, the Tuskegee report said "efforts to abandon the public school system and enact other laws which would strengthen segregation have frequently met resistance from educational organizations, government administrators and community leaders."

"Hundreds of formerly segregated schools have been desegregated without causing tensions or conflict," he continued. "In many more communities throughout the South, plans for desegregation have been and are being worked out."

There were evidences of rejection, too, Foster said, and, "In many areas of the South, government officials and civic leaders have tended to let matters drift, and there has been very little effective communication between the two racial groups."

As obstacles to integration, the Tuskegee report mentioned:

Passage of a bill by the Alabama Legislature to require a license fee for solicitors in rural Wilcox County where Negroes outnumber white residents. It was aimed at the National Assn. for the Advancement of Colored People.

Action in Louisiana to authorize the hiring of lawyers to fight segregation suits.

Mississippi's action to use police power to maintain segregated schools.

Passage of a bill in Virginia for a statewide vote on abolition of public schools.

Georgia making it a felony to spend tax money for integrated schools.

Louisiana directing the State Board of Education to disapprove nonsegregation schools or forbidding colleges to recognize certificates of graduation from such schools.

North Carolina voting to deny financial aid to desegregated schools.

Passage of laws in Alabama, Georgia and North Carolina giving local school boards authority to assign pupils to various schools.

Mississippi's enactment of a law to punish white pupils who might attend state-supported schools with Negroes.

Opponents of integration also have resorted to "economic pressure, intimidation and violence," Dr. Foster added, and many Negroes and some white persons have lost their jobs and have been denied bank and consumer credit.

Trooper Phillips' Home Struck By Fire In Winnsboro

WINNSBORO, Dec. 30 (Special)—The home of State Trooper H. R. Phillips, 1718 Front street, was partially destroyed by fire this morning and all of the home furnishings received extensive damage from fire, water, and smoke and breakage caused by being hurriedly removed from the structure.

Everything in the house was damaged. A. V. (Blackie) Burt, owner of the building and operator of an adjoining service station said that evidently the fire was caused when the spray from a termite treatment came in contact with a floor furnace and the entire underpart of the house burst into flames.

A large water hose from the service station and quick action by the Winnsboro volunteer fire department was all that saved the one-story frame building from being a total loss.

Burt had recently purchased the home from a contracting firm, and the firm was having the termite work done. The eight-room frame building is valued at $9,000. No estimate of the amount of damage was available, but the foundation and floors and the south and west walls of the house were ruined.

Trooper Phillips and his family, wife and small child recently moved to Winnsboro from West Monroe.

Hearing Set In Sheffield Case; More Time Asked

The case of Joseph Sheffield, convicted murderer of Franklin Parish Deputy Sheriff John Waller, will reach a new stage in Monroe January 5 when a federal hearing will be held to determine if more time will be granted the state in which to get a jury together.

Sheffield was tried and sentenced to die in 1953 for the slaying of Deputy Waller.

The January hearing is based on a state request, filed Thursday, for a 16-day extension of the time limit imposed by Federal Judge Ben Dawkins, Jr., for the state to re-try Sheffield or turn him loose. Judge Dawkins ruled that Sheffield's rights were violated in the swift trial.

Deadline under Judge Dawkins' ruling is mid-January. Higher courts refused to upset his ruling.

Preaus Calls On Public 'To Keep Recent Advances'

DEQUINCY, Dec. 30 (Special)—Constructive, progressive government was pledged here today by the Preaus-Moore gubernatorial team.

Candidate for Governor Frederick T. Preaus told a DeQuincy audience that as governor he would give the people the type of clean, independent citizens' government that they want.

He said that in order to provide the services needed by the people state government must not have its hands tied by political machines. "When you have a governor who is not in debt to anyone he can work for the benefit of all of the people. When he wants to do something he can take his proposal straight to the people or to their elected representatives. But with a political machine, the governor would first have to clear it with the machine. If it was good for the machine, the people would get it, whether it was good for them or not."

A. Brown Moore, candidate for lieutenant-governor, said Louisianaans interested in a brighter future for themselves and the continuation of clean government should vote January 17 to reject two political machines seeking to take over the governor's office.

Moore, a New Orleans city councilman, said the Long machine is trying to sneak back into Baton Rouge on a program of vilification, pledges that in all probability will not be remembered past election day, and deliberate distortion of some of the campaign issues. This machine is living in the past, and they want to take Louisiana back into the past, Moore said.

"This old machine broke down in 1932 and they have patched it up and are trying to get it running fast enough to get them back to Baton Rouge. I don't think they will make it. Now, on the other hand, we have a second machine, a big city one with plenty of power. The trouble with this machine is that it has outgrown the city of New Orleans and needs more elbow room. It takes a lot of fuel to keep a machine as powerful as this one running, and that's what they are looking for in Baton Rouge."

Moore said it would be a tragic mistake for Louisiana to install in power at Baton Rouge either of these two machines. He said machines have never been good for a state because a machine must be kept in top working order and if a machine is put back in office, its welfare will come first, and the needs of the people second.

Turning to his program, Preaus said, "I don't think the voters of Louisiana will let down their less fortunate neighbors who have found new hope during the past three and one-half years."

Preaus said Louisianaans today have a new understanding of what the state must do to care for those who cannot care for themselves. He said the people now know that the mentally ill and mentally retarded are not to be locked in rooms or forgotten, but must be rehabilitated with kindness and understanding and given the most modern treatment in order that they can return to their homes and communities as useful citizens.

"Until about three and one-half years ago," Preaus said, "the people had been sold on the idea that the only way to care for our unfortunate citizens, including the mentally ill and those who had transgressed against society, was to lock them up and treat them as brutally as possible. Today that is all changed. Now we know that we must try to help these people."

The candidate for governor said he believes the people of the state are proud of their contribution to the program which has meant a new future for those whose only hope formerly was that they would receive visitors and an occasional package from home. He said that they now can look forward to the day when they can return home and take their place in community affairs as their position in the family circle.

"Certainly we do not want to return to those dark days which brought infamy to our state," Preaus said. "We no longer call our mental institutions insane asylums, but hospitals. We still call Angola a prison because that is what it is, but we also consider it a school where prisoners are educated, taught a trade and made to see the error of their ways. We have going up at DeQuincy a correctional institution for young first offenders in order to segregate them from hardened criminals. We believe that there is hope for these young men and we have adopted the Christian attitude that we will do all we can to get them back on the right road."

Preaus said there are enough right-thinking voters in Louisiana to put him in the governor's chair in order that he can continue these humane programs and others for another four years. He pointed out that it takes more than just three and one-half years to undo the mistakes of 40 to 50 years and that the Preaus-Moore team would be able to consolidate the gains we have made and expand them in the next four years.

"We must not throw away what we have accomplished in the short space of some 40 months," Preaus said.

Suit Against Two Attorneys Reset

WACO, Dec. 30—UP—Judge Penn Jackson of Cleburne reset Friday for January 11 a pre-trial hearing on a suit against Everett and M. M. O'Dowd, lawyer-brothers, by the State Bar Association.

The Bar Association wants to cancel or suspend the licenses to practice law of the O'Dowds on charges of misconduct, mostly involving insurance cases.

The pre-trial hearing had been set for Friday, Judge Jackson put the hearing over and redocketed the trial, which had been scheduled Jan. 9, for February 20.

The O'Dowds, who will defend themselves, told Jackson they were not ready for a pre-trial hearing. They said they needed to get additional witnesses from out-of-state before replying to an amended pleading by the Bar Association's grievance committee.

Accused Clerk Resigns Position

AMARILLO, Dec. 30—UP—Ben Smith, 85-year-old district clerk who has been charged with misappropriation of funds, resigned Friday.

Smith had been district clerk since 1930. A civil suit seeking his removal from office was pending against him. It was filed by former members of a Potter county grand jury.

The suit alleged misappropriation of funds entrusted to Smith. Assistant District Attorney Bob Jones said the civil suit will now be dismissed.

Major Issues Confronting Congress

A "do nothing" session of Congress, convening early next month, is in prospect. The long shadow of quadrennial elections, involving the presidency, will rest on Capitol Hill. At least a dozen vitally important measures, some of them partially enacted, will confront Senate and House members; yet partisanship, already being manifested, easily may block final action on most of these. The struggle for party advantage will be intensified; with the Democrats, controlling both houses, intent on making a record which will aid them in the November general elections, and a recuperating President seeking to regain full control of his own party's machinery following a heart attack last summer.

Among the crucial issues up for action in Congress are these: The highway program, bogged down at the last session in a dispute between President Eisenhower and the Democrats over methods of financing; the highly controversial administration proposal for vast federal aid to the public schools; the bill to exempt well-head natural gas production from federal control, which passed the House but faces a terrific fight, with threats of filibuster, in the Senate; and the administration proposals, not yet officially announced, to hike by billions of dollars the budget for military spending and foreign civilian give-away.

Taking precedence over all of these, however, is the looming battle over tax reduction.

There is a nationwide demand for a highway program to bolster our ailing road system, now swamped and outmoded, through years of neglect. The administration is reported to be ready to waive its scheme of financing such an outlay to the extent of many billions of dollars through a bond issue; and there is a fair prospect of a compromise measure meeting this urgent need, at least in part, on a pay-as-you-go basis.

The anticipated administration proposal to pour billions of dollars of federal tax funds into the public schools faces a bitter fight; with the prospect being that no such legislation will be enacted next year. The explosive possibilities of the proposal are enormous. The recent White House Educational Conference, a thimble-rigged meeting, plausibly indorsing this historic plunge without ever letting the delegates vote, gave a totally false and misleading impression of how the people feel. A fundamental issue is involved here—a vast proposed federal grab of power, to seize control over and direction of the nation's educational system, which throughout the long past has been financed, directed and controlled at state and local levels. Those who believe the battle for federal dominance and control of our schools has been won are due to suffer a rude awakening. Opposition is nationwide, and it will not be downed without a terrific struggle.

Lydon B. Johnson of Texas, majority leader of the Senate, is an outspoken champion of the bill to exempt primary gas producers from federal regulation; yet this measure is being opposed powerfully by left-wing Democrats, centered in the big cities of the North and East, and they have served unofficial notice already that they will raise the old civil rights issue by way of filibuster if the measure is pressed.

A twist of fate—the fact that Sen. Johnson suffered a heart attack—prevented probable Senate passage of the bill at the last session of Congress. Had the Texan been on his feet, able to direct the fight, passage by a close margin probably would have ensued. Now, the factional demands of left-wing Democrats may prevent any final vote, or result in the measure's defeat.

The administration's reputed plans to seek additional billions in foreign aid, and a commitment for a ten-year give-away extending around the world, are peculiarly ill timed. These, coupled with an anticipated major hike in military spending, would preclude both a balanced budget and a tax cut, unless the latter were made on a deficit basis. The civilian aid give-away, if actually requested, is certain to meet stormy opposition both in Republican and Democratic Congressional ranks; and in all probability will be defeated decisively. Sentiment in Congress and among the people is strongly in the direction of further sharp slashes in the existing foreign aid program. Many members of Congress are urging that foreign aid be cut off altogether.

Demands for tax reduction are piling mountain-high, and it is a fairly safe bet that Congress will enact between now and next June a tax reduction bill; and there is nothing that the administration or the Democratic leadership can do to stave off such legislation. The direction and extent of tax reductions will provide spirited debate in both houses.

These are only a few of the stormy issues confronting Congress when it meets early next year.

Nehru Blasts The Communists

One of the most devastating and pointed attacks ever launched against Communism emerged from India this week; and its author, of all persons, was Prime Minister Nehru, who, in the eyes of many Americans, is pro-red.

The Prime Minister was addressing a mass meeting at Trichur, in Southern India; and his remarks were aimed primarily at the Communists in his own country; but they apply equally well to Communism all over the world.

According to a press dispatch, he described Indian reds as "reactionaries whose revolution consisted only of copying other countries, irrespective of local conditions."

Then he assailed the theories of Karl Marx, founder of communism, as provincial and hopelessly decrepit, based on local and regional conditions arising in Europe as by-products of the 19th century industrial revolution.

An ardent revolutionary himself, Nehru added: "What the world needs in the atomic age is something dynamic and revolutionary. Yet the Indian Communists cling to outmoded and outdated theories and doctrines that have no relation to facts today."

Here are words of profound wisdom, sharply illuminating like a lightning flash the vulnerability and weakness of Communism in the modern age, and the fact that it is antiquated and provincial, offering nothing toward a solution of modern problems.

Every country in the world is feeling the impact of the industrial revolution, which started with mechanical sheep-shearing machines and has continued unabated into the new and dazzling atomic era.

We in America feel its impact day by day; and we adjust our thinking and our economy to lessen its hardships upon displaced workers and technicians. Every hour of the day, we disprove the untenable theories of Karl Marx, that class hatred is the dominant force in our lives, and that the mythical "proletariat" must rise above those who own property and liquidate them, and become stooges in a tight dictatorship, where they work and starve for the glory of their rulers.

The doctrines of Karl Marx rest upon division, disruption, vengeance and hate. As Mr. Nehru vividly pointed out, Marx was a disgruntled product of the first phase of the industrial revolution in Europe. He was, in fact, a false prophet who couldn't see beyond the end of his nose; a displaced person who breathed hatred toward the human race, whose prophecies have embroiled the world in bloodshed, up to its knees; and yet today, in the light of our modern knowledge, he appears as an old "has-been"; and, as Mr. Nehru so eloquently said, he embodies "outmoded and outdated theories and doctrines that have no relation to facts today."

Mr. Nehru assailed the Communists of India as reactionaries.

The Communists are the most reactionary force in the world today.

The Prime Minister's address was delivered in the wake of an historic visit by the biggest big-wigs of the Kremlin, into his country; and, for its tenor, it might properly be construed as his answer to Soviet Russia, which undoubtedly made demands and sought to put pressure upon him.

Viewed in that light, Mr. Nehru's address might mark a milestone in history; since India, more than any other country in the world today, perhaps, is a keystone to the balance of power between the Western nations and the Soviet Union and its satellites.

THESE DAYS

By George Sokolsky

The Quiet Life

It all started on Friday when we took Joe to board him out in kennels in the country over the holidays. We did not dare bring a Christmas tree into the house with Joe at home because it was improbable that there would be no accident. Joe is wholly unpredictable, and a tree is very tempting. Naturally, it was a bit saddening to think of Christmas without Joe's morning bark and lick, but he likes snow, being a Keeshond, and in the kennels in Nyack he will have plenty of running and wrestling in the snow.

There were none of the usual arguments about how to trim the tree. The youngsters took over and did it fast, but it looked the same as it always did. This year, we had promised ourselves the luxury of driving up to the farm to chop down a spruce but Christmas came too soon and the snow too early, so we bought a tree which never can be like a chopped-down tree from one's own woods.

And so to bed on Friday night, listening to Christmas carols well into the night as put together by Fleetwood on "Music Through the Night," which continues to be a good way to fall asleep peacefully.

On Saturday we went to the Metropolitan Opera House and witnessed a glorious "Lohegrin" which seemed to be just right for Christmas. The mystery of "Lohegrin" fitted the mood of mystery and mysticism. I went to "Lohegrin" with my daughter who keeps me very young because she is 15 is such a mature lady. Maybe some day she will grow young too, as balanced human beings always do as the years come to them.

Then we dined in famille and gathered our presents but never opened a one of them and we talked of this and that, and of our child who is away from home in distant California and of Joe who is also away in the kennels and of Brovie who lies on a hill on the farm and whose grave we shall cover with sweet alyssum, and for a while we listened solemnly to Bach's "Christmas Cantata" which came over a music station, WQXR, and so to bed.

Early Christmas morning we opened our presents which had taken us so long to wrap. Over WNYC came Handel's "The Messiah" which filled the house with its many glories.

Ours is a peculiar household. I am, of course, a Jew. My wife is an Episcopalian; the son who is in California is a Roman Catholic; the daughter goes to a Dutch Reformed Church; the second son has not yet declared himself. We all manage to get along but I fear that the only one who went to church was the young man in California. We do not find the variety of religious experience at all disconcerting.

As a matter of fact, we are Republicans and Democrats, pro this and that, and we argue and debate from our various standpoints. We even have diverse views on music and while I could not imagine myself spending a night at Jimmy Ryan's listening to Jazz, other members of the household do just that, preferring beer to wine which is like favoring herring over caviar. It is all a matter of taste and although Father's taste is never referred to as stuffy or old-fashioned, it is regarded as gaudy which is a form of indigestion.

Nevertheless, I was pleased to find one of the younger ones voluntarily reading "Mr. Midshipman Easy," which was as good a novel in 1836, when it was published, as it is today. And what also pleased me was that our young lady, who went with me to see the opening of "The Righteous Are Bold," one of the truly important plays here this year, liked the play and understood its meaning which is more than can be said for some of the adults who wondered what such grand acting was all about. So many of our theatergoers have a "Guys and Dolls" complex that they have lost the taste for theater, just as charcolé-steak eaters lose the flavor of an excellent stew.

And so we sat about the tree on Christmas night—family and dear friends, not so much celebrating, although both food and drink were plentiful, thank God for His mercies, but just to feel the warmth of being together.

Keep Your Hedges High

You try these days to pick up the sweet little old lady on the street corner and offer her a lift, you're liable to get a hot pin in your face.

Or else you pick her up and maybe get a gun in your ribs.

The Auto Club tells highway motorists to be particularly careful never to be gallant gentlemen.

They don't say it that way, but they tell us never to stop for what appears to be "a lady in distress." Homebound one night a few years ago, I heard screams from the upper window of a towering apartment building. A woman screaming!

Remembering the warnings, I ran to a nearby drug store, figuring the druggist could accompany my mercy mission as a witness.

The drug store was closed, nobody about on the midnight streets. I dashed into the building—still hearing the screams—and found the automatic elevator unattended.

At this point, ask yourself . . . could a man turn away and go home and sleep soundly? Of course he could not.

But after I'd smashed down a door (and half a wall) and "rescued" the terror-stricken claustrophobic (who had merely accidentally locked herself in her bathroom), you should have heard the protests from my friends in the law enforcement agencies.

It might have been any kind of trap, they insisted.

Well, I still say nobody could walk away from such a situation.

As it turned out, the lady was most appreciative, as was her husband who had been away during the emergency.

Surely there is a middle ground which each man must choose for himself between trusting everybody and suspecting everybody.

But we don't dare pick up hitchhikers . . .

We are cautioned to run from ladies in distress . . .

We are made self-conscious about tossing candy to the neighborhood youngsters.

Headlines urge us, more and more, never to open the door for strangers.

And with our pyramiding population this situation is going to get worse.

When I was a lad, if you ran out of gas in the country you walked to the nearest farmhouse and you were invited in . . . often welcomed to dinner.

Now when a man comes to the door with apparently proper credentials from a familiar charity, you don't dare let him past the threshold.

And John Edgar Hoover and police chiefs everywhere insist that such precaution is necessary.

The New Year

Happy New Year! How wonderful to have a whole new year given to us! A whole package of days tied up in Father Time's hands to be doled out to us one after the other with never a hint of what they will bring us of happiness, success or the wrong side of them. That bit of secrecy makes life very interesting, fills it with hope, rouses our faith and ambition.

Ambition is not heard of as much as it used to be when it was praised in the ears of youth. To say, "That is an ambitious youngster. He is sure to arrive some day," was to compliment that young person highly. To wish to be somebody important, somebody worth while, to do something that would make him feel successful and approved was considered worthy of effort, sacrifice and devotion and greatly to be praised.

That is still a standard youth, young men and young women, of today may well set for themselves. It means cultivation of personal gifts, a striving to be one's self at the height of one's power, and that means setting a prize for oneself and bending every effort toward winning it.

To do this, the young person must decide to go his own way in spite of loneliness, unsympathetic criticism from companions who prefer an easier way of "getting by." Ambition wants more of life than just getting by. It demands achievement of power—power of mind, of body, growth of character and spiritual integrity. Of these is greatness built.

The New Year is here to offer all young people a new chance at life's gifts. It offers forgetfulness of mistakes and hope for renewed hope and faith and achievement. The forgetfulness is important here. Everybody makes mistakes. Youth makes it's share and it may be encouraging to know that youth is the time to make them, profit by them and rise above them, using them as rungs on the ladder as the poet well said.

This is a good day to do some thinking. How well was the past year spent? What is there to show for it? Where was the mistake made and how is another to be avoided? What plan for the coming year and yours? What ambition is to drive forward growth, character, achievement?

When the first flicker of ambition to do and to become lights the mind, feed it with hope. Even when there seems to be no way of achieving it, hold fast to it, keep mulling over it, cherish it, and because of that mental force that is being built up within, the way will open.

Boys and girls, select a motto for your shield, one that suits you, and live up to it. How about, "God is my strength?"

Learning to spell is difficult for some children. How you can give your child help in spelling at home is outlined by Dr. Patri in his leaflet P-30, "Aid for Poor Spellers." To obtain a copy, send 10 cents in coin to him, care of this paper, P. O. Box 98, Station G, New York 19, N. Y.

housewives who weren't careful. My goodness, I hope this enforced mistrust doesn't destroy all of that wonderful spirit of friendly hospitality which has so typified Americans since the earliest colonists.

IN WASHINGTON

1955 Was A Good Year

From more than one viewpoint, Washington has a hard time sizing up 1955. Was it, as some economists claim, the best year for the United States in this century? Did we progress in ratio to the growth in national prosperity? Are we better off than we were a year ago? These and other questions are difficult to answer. But the temptation to try is irresistible. There can be no question that the United States at the end of 1955 is richer in the world's goods, that more live in their own homes, and that national income has increased. To that extent the answer to the question whether we are better off is a rousing "aye."

This is true in spite of the fact that the United States spends nearly half its annual federal budget on defense, or preparation for a possible war. Scientists point out that from these defense expenditures, particularly those for atomic purposes, the country has been able to keep ahead in the race for atomic supremacy, not only in respect to nuclear weapons, but also in the general field of atomic energy, to which experience in developing new and improved weapons, including guided missiles, makes an indispensable contribution.

The armed services are also an effective barrier against widespread unemployment, economists have calculated, because enough manpower in each community is drawn off for military service to keep employment and demand in balance. They remind us that in the '30s, the government for several years supported more unemployed than the total now in the armed services.

To answer from Washington the question whether we made as much real progress as our prosperity warranted is an impossibility, for progress varies from area to area. Also, material progress alone is not the whole answer. History may record that the greatest individual advance of 1955 was the introduction of Salk polio vaccine, if it becomes an effective preventive of the dread children's disease.

Progress in neighborliness, in civic enterprise, in religious undertakings figures largely in the estimate. It provides the human interest stories of the public prints.

The most striking feature of a new broad highway connecting Washington with the Maryland countryside is the number of new churches of all faiths and creeds. Travelers by auto in many sections of the country report that this year has seen many new churches begun in every section where there are new highways and housing developments.

In a country where the supermarket has replaced the cross roads as a point for sampling sentiment, the evidence that the U. S. seemed this year to be entering a new phase is widespread, and that there are few if any insoluble domestic problems. All parents are concerned about schools, and from their testimony, the physical plant situation for American education is not as sorry as some professional educators would like the country to believe. And sampling indicates constant plant improvement.

Political trends in 1955 saw little change, with President Eisenhower's illness the No. 1 development. But there were other signs and portents which could have more lasting effect than the heart attack of Sept. 4. There was evidence that a conservative trend in government affairs and in government finance, as wisely directed by the general Secretary of the Treasury, George M. Humphrey, suits the mood of the electorate, if it can be continued.

In the other hand, so many developments are at a standstill without government aid that the average member of Congress is in a continuing dilemma.

For some time to come, the effect of the Supreme Court's school segregation order will rank close to the top among the history making actions of 1955. The feeling that the Supreme Court action was much too precipitate is widely current in Washington among northerners as well as southerners. There are reports that some members of the U. S. Supreme Court are beginning to have their doubts about the wisdom of social change by court action.

However, it seems indisputable that more people have enjoyed prosperity than in any previous year in U. S. history. Some will dispute that, but that does not alter our wish for a Happy New Year to all.

RIPLEY'S—Believe It Or Not!

Worry Clinic

By Dr. George W. Crane

Geraldine wants to know how a girl can "sparkle" or "glow" with vitality and charm. Well, you must learn the proper technique and practice it. Charming personalities are "made," not "born," so even if you have no how you can soon, be popular if you are willing to work at it. But you can't lazily "wish" your way to a wedding ring! Case Q-336: Geraldine G., aged 19, came to my office sadly. "Dr. Crane, I dress well and am certainly not bad looking, would you say?" she began. "Yet boys don't show much interest in me. Other coeds with no more looks and not even as pretty clothes as mine, have plenty of dates. "So what is wrong with me? It isn't 'B.O.' or dandruff or the many advertised faults of girls, for I have guarded against such things. "But I'm just a flat, colorless personality. I don't sparkle like other girls."

Learn to Sparkle Geraldine was correct in diagnosing herself. She had about everything needed to be attractive except for "sparkle."

But that "sparkle" or enthusiasm for life, is something you must cultivate. You can turn it on by sheer will power.

For example, observe a salesman when he is at home. He may be quiet and almost colorless.

But the moment he starts his sales talk, what happens? He affects animation, whether he feels it or not.

He acts peppy and interested in his product. He may ultimately become so enthusiastic that his personal magnetism overpowers his prospect and thus produces the signature along the dotted line.

Later that same customer may say, "Why did I ever buy this thing, anyway? I have no need for it."

But the sparkle and glow of the animated salesman half hypnotized the prospect.

Well, salesmen learn to turn on their animation, regardless of their personal feelings. And so do public platform performers.

Platform Strategy The orchestra leader may be dead tired or even about sick with the flu, but when it is his cue to go upon the stage, he deliberately turns on vigor and vitality for the sake of his audience.

Some leaders seem to be so peppy they turn a handspring or flip-flop in the air as they come out of the wing upon the stage.

And they bounce on the soles of their feet and twirl their baton as if they were bundles of energy.

Yet it may be turned on as a deliberate act, for unless a leader seems exuberant and peppy, his audience will not become sufficiently animated to applaud loudly.

For "sparkle" and enthusiasm are contagious. That's why salesmen and public speakers, as well as orchestra leaders, learn to act animated regardless of their true inner feelings.

Oddly enough, after you act animated you will begin to feel that way, too, for we have this famous adage in psychology: "Act the way you'd like to be and soon you'll be the way you act!"

How To Be Popular Girls, if you want to raise your appeal as "date bait", then affect enthusiasm.

To do this, learn to smile and be liberal with honest compliments. Also, memorize my formula for an interesting conversationalist. And act peppy!

To help speed up the process, get a job during vacation as a sales clerk, so you can practice speaking first to strangers and injecting verve and vitality into your sales talk.

Good health and plenty of sleep will help you "glow", but you can be as healthy as a cow and still be stodgy and dull, unless you mentally spur yourself on.

Nature, alone, is not enough. It takes will power to force yourself through the proper motions.

Send for my booklet "How to be an Interesting Conversationalist," enclosing a stamped return envelope, plus 20 cents. Memorize that technique; then USE IT.

Collision Hurts Three People Thursday Night

COLUMBIA, Dec. 30 (Special)—A head-on collision of two automobiles about two miles south of here Thursday night injured three persons seriously.

Officers said that both automobiles were demolished.

Injured in the wreck were Walter J. Hoggsett, 48, of Columbia, his wife, Jewell Hoggsett, 46, and Dalton Alexandria, 38, of Jennings, La.

All three are patients at the Columbia hospital. Mrs. Hoggsett was reported to have a broken arm, broken shoulder, chest injuries, lacerations and bruises. Hoggsett sustained cuts and bruises and a possible broken knee. Alexandria received cuts and bruises and a badly damaged leg.

The accident was reported to have occurred when Alexandria, headed north on U. S. Highway 167 crashed head-on with the Hoggsett car which was traveling south. There was a heavy fog last night.

Alexandria was reported to have left the scene of the accident and was later wandering in the woods by officers.

No charges had been filed late Friday.

Guardsmen To Aid In Patrolling La. Holiday Traffic

National guard troops from Monroe's headquarters, along with those from all over Louisiana, will take to the roads this weekend in an effort to cut down on traffic accidents.

The troops, to be called out as needed as the traffic increases or decreases, will be cooperating with state police in patrolling the highways to stop drunken and reckless driving.

A similar plan was carried through on the Fourth of July this year with marked success.

Since the weekend traffic toll through most of the nation was so heavy during the Christmas holidays, the idea is being tried again.

There were no deaths during the Christmas holidays in Ouachita Parish, but two persons have died in traffic accidents on the roads since then.

Gypsies Fill Casket At Texarkana Funeral With Money, Undertaker Says

TEXARKANA, Tex., Dec. 30—Three hundred gypsies from 20 states buried a clansman Friday in a coffin which undertakers said was filled with money.

Not only was there money inside the coffin, but the mourners also threw money on top of the coffin for five or six minutes after it was lowered into a grave in Sacred Heart cemetery.

The body in the coffin was that of Miller Groffo, 43, of Jacksonville, Fla., who died of a heart attack while passing through Texarkana Wednesday with his family.

Relatives and clansmen were summoned to the funeral and 300 of them arrived from points as far away as New York, California and Florida. Though nearly all had big cars, they didn't spend any money on hotels.

They camped in and around the East Funeral home, sleeping on grass and the carpets and bringing in sandwiches, food and drinks which they ate where they slept.

Undertakers, who couldn't move them out, said they filled the space in the coffin that wasn't occupied by the body with paper money and coins. The idea was to pay Groffo's passage to the hereafter.

They also buried with him extra clothes, a hat, a bottle of shaving lotion and a razor. At that, the corpse looked tidier than some of the mourners.

The reason, white-haired M. J. Frank of Cleveland, leader of the Brazilian Gypsy tribe, said, was because the clan members can't by custom, change clothes, wash shave or do anything to improve their appearance after getting a death message.

Sacred Heart Catholic Church, where the Rev. James Callahan conducted the funeral, was filled with gypsies and curious residents of Texarkana.

At the graveside, the moaning, screaming gypsies broke out cases of soft drinks. They drank some and poured the rest on top of the coffin, as a symbolic toasting of death.

The gypsies declined to talk about the money thrown in or on the coffin, but left their camp at the funeral home and went to a trailer camp for a funeral feast.

Far West Freight Rate Slash Gets Tentative Okay

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30—UP—The Interstate Commerce Commission gave its tentative approval Friday to a proposal by Far West railroads for sweeping freight rate reductions.

The commission has ordered the carriers to make rate adjustments effective June 1. Their detailed plans for doing so is subject to further ICC study and final approval.

The proposal calls for a reduction in "class" freight rates which generally apply to manufactured goods. The carriers claim it would cost them $10 million a year.

The ICC action marked another round in a lengthy battle that began in the ICC with a 1939 order over standardization of rates between the South and West and traditionally lower eastern charges.

Under the railroad's plan, decreases on transcontinental freight would range from 16.4 to 29 per cent.

The carriers affected operate in Washington, Oregon, California, Nevada, Idaho, Utah, Arizona, Montana, Wyoming, New Mexico, and parts of Colorado.

Pate Installed As Commandant Of Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Marine Corps today greeted its new commandant, Lt. Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, with traditional ceremonies — and an unscheduled kiss.

The 21st chief of the 180-year-old Corps took the oath of office in a solemn ceremony at the Pentagon in the presence of Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, the present commandant, and a host of military and civilian leaders.

The ceremony went according to schedule though the administration of the oath. At that point Pate was congratulated with a resounding kiss, delivered squarely on target by Col. Julia E. Hamblett, director of the Women Marines.

The swearing-in ceremony produced a second surprise when the letter of appointment written by President Eisenhower named Pate to a two-year term, instead of the usual four-year.

Wind In Montana Nets 'Best Liar' Title For Champ

BURLINGTON, Wis. Dec. 30—UP—Claude T. Yerkes of Kalispell, Mont., Friday won the title of world champion liar for 1956 with a tall tale about a whimsical wind.

Yerkes will be awarded custody of the Burlington Liars Club "genuine imitation diamond studded gold plated" worlds champion liars medal for the next year.

He won the title with the following compound fracture of the truth:

"A shepherd who lived in a small trailer house had his provisions brought out by the owner of the sheep. On this particular occasion, the provisions included a 100-pound sack of flour for which there was no room in the trailer, so the herder drove a couple of stout nails in the wall and hung the sack of flour on them, just outside the trailer door.

"During the night, one of Montana's justly famous winds swooped down on him. Next morning, the shepherd stepped out of his trailer to find that the wind had blown away the sack and left the flour hanging on the nails."

provided several honorable mention prevarications:

T. Sgt. Homer Taylor, overseas with the HD Squad. 6607, A.B. Wing fibbed to a few notches of the top with this one:

"During the thirties times were so bad and food so scarce in Roger Mills county, Okla., where we lived, that rabbit was the main dish, with the result that rabbits got so scarce that a law was passed making it unlawful to kill one.

"However we were allowed to catch one a day and milk it—if we let it go after milking."

R. V. Johnson, Calgary, Alberta, Canada, sent in this damp diversion from the straight and narrow:

"A few years ago, while out fishing, I noticed an old Indian, in a canoe just off shore. He would take his paddle dig a shallow hole in the water and then lay a sponge at the end of the hole. Every so often he would reach down and grab a nice mackinaw trout and throw it into the canoe. When he came ashore, I asked him about his odd method of fishing.

"It easy," he said "fish come up through hole. Sallow sponge. Swell up. No can get back through hole."

And last, a dry lie, from Rev. E. C. McKenzie, Montgomery, Ala.:

"From 1930 to 1935, I lived on the wind-swept prairies of West Texas. This section of the country is noted throughout the world for its dry weather and sandstorms.

"In 1933, it was so dry out there that I saw little children cry constantly for three weeks without shedding a tear. They couldn't."

Collision Hurts Three People Thursday Night

COLUMBIA, Dec. 30 (Special)—A head-on collision of two automobiles about two miles south of here Thursday night injured three persons seriously.

Officers said that both automobiles were demolished. Injured in the wreck were Walter J. Hoggsett, 48, of Columbia, his wife, Jewell Hoggsett, 46, and Dalton Alexandria, 38, of Jennings, La.

All three are patients at the Columbia hospital. Mrs. Hoggsett was reported to have a broken arm, broken shoulder, chest injuries, lacerations and bruises. Hoggsett sustained cuts and bruises and a possible broken knee. Alexandria received cuts and bruises and a badly damaged leg.

The accident was reported to have occurred when Alexandria, headed north on U. S. Highway 167 crashed head-on with the Hoggsett car which was traveling south. There was a heavy fog last night.

Alexandria was reported to have left the scene of the accident and was located wandering in the woods by officers.

No charges had been filed late Friday.

Guardsmen To Aid In Patrolling La. Holiday Traffic

National guard troops from Monroe's headquarters, along with those from all over Louisiana, will take to the roads this weekend in an effort to cut down on traffic accidents.

The troops, to be called out as needed as the traffic increases or decreases, will be cooperating with state police in patrolling the highways to stop drunken and reckless driving.

A similar plan was carried through on the Fourth of July this year with marked success.

Since the weekend traffic toll through most of the nation was so heavy during the Christmas holidays, the idea is being tried again.

There were no deaths during the Christmas holidays in Ouachita Parish, but two persons have died in traffic accidents on the roads since then.

HOPES FOR MORE
WHITESBURG, Ky. (AP)—Uncle Eli Lucas, 91, announced the birth of his 19th child yesterday with the hope "there will be many more children to bless our home." Thirteen children were by his first wife, who died several years ago, and six by his second wife, whose age was not learned.

Gypsies Fill Casket At Texarkana Funeral With Money, Undertaker Says

TEXARKANA, Tex., Dec. 30—UP—Three hundred gypsies from 20 states buried a clansman Friday in a coffin which undertakers said was filled with money.

Not only was there money inside the coffin, but the mourners also threw money on top of the coffin for five or six minutes after it was lowered into a grave in Sacred Heart cemetery.

The body in the coffin was that of Miller Groffo, 43, of Jacksonville, Fla., who died of a heart attack while passing through Texarkana Wednesday with his family.

Relatives and clansmen were summoned to the funeral and 300 of them arrived from points as far away as New York, California and Florida. Though nearly all had big cars, they didn't spend any money on hotels.

They camped in and around the East Funeral home, sleeping on grass and the carpets and bringing in sandwiches, food and drinks which they ate where they slept.

Undertakers, who couldn't move them out, said they filled the space in the coffin that wasn't occupied by the body with paper money and coins. The idea was to pay Groffo's passage to the hereafter.

They also buried with him extra clothes, a hat, a bottle of shaving lotion and a razor. At that, the corpse looked tidier than some of the mourners.

Wind In Montana Nets 'Best Liar' Title For Champ

BURLINGTON, Wis. Dec. 30—UP—Claude T. Yerkes of Kalispell, Mont., Friday won the title of world champion liar for 1955 with a tall tale about a whimsical wind.

Yerkes will be awarded custody of the Burlington Liars Club "genuine imitation diamond studded gold plated" world's champion liars medal for the next year.

He won the title with the following compound fracture of the truth:

"A shepherd who lived in a small trailer house had his provisions brought out by the owner of the sheep. On this particular occasion, the provisions included a 100-pound sack of flour for which there was no room in the trailer, so the herder drove a couple of stout nails in the wall and hung the sack of flour on them, just outside the trailer door.

"During the night, one of Montana's justly famous winds swooped down on him. Next morning, the shepherd stepped out of his trailer to find that the wind had blown away the sack and left the flour hanging on the nails."

Pate Installed As Commandant Of Marine Corps

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Marine Corps today greeted its new commandant, Lt. Gen. Randolph McCall Pate, with traditional ceremonies — and an unscheduled kiss.

The 21st chief of the 180-year-old Corps took the oath of office in a solemn ceremony at the Pentagon in the presence of Gen. Lemuel C. Shepherd, the present commandant, and a host of military and civilian leaders.

The ceremony went according to schedule through the administration of the oath. At that point Pate was congratulated with a resounding kiss, delivered squarely on target by Col. Julia E. Hamblett, director of the Women Marines.

The swearing-in ceremony produced a second surprise when the letter of appointment written by President Eisenhower named Pate to a two-year term, instead of the usual four-year.

Commodore Matthew Calbraith Perry, best known for opening the ports of Japan to world trade in 1853-54 is also known as the "Father of the American Steam Navy."

Teen-Agers Sensitive

To Common Problems

There is a great similarity in the problem of teen-agers and young men and women. If the few pimples of this age are apt to be very sensitive about those they have; to fall to realize that many others their age have the same troubles.

Complexion trouble is one of the most prevalent problems. Few individuals escape this difficulty entirely at adolescence. Most young folks have trouble with blackheads at some time while many have a few chronic pimples. A few may have only an occasional bump or so.

Also, young folks usually are most self-conscious because of skin or complexion trouble. This, in turn, may affect their personalities unhappily.

As preventive care for pimples and any skin blemishes girls and boys should adopt the habit of washing their faces with soap and water several times daily from the age of 11 or 12 on. At this age the little oil glands are most active and this frequent washing will remove oil, which combined with dirt, clogs the pores and leads to blackheads.

Often pimples are the aftermath of blackheads. Young folks squeeze the blackheads and cause irritation and infection. Then they finger the pimple, spreading the infection to other pores. Thus more pimples.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 58, "Popularity," which is written especially for teen-agers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Teen-Agers Sensitive To Common Problems

There is a great similarity in the problem of teen-agers and yet young men and young women of this age are apt to be very sensitive about those they have; to fail to realize that many others their age have the same troubles. Complexion trouble is one of the most prevalent problems. Few individuals escape this difficulty entirely at adolescence. Most young folks have trouble with blackheads at some time while many have a few chronic pimples. A few may have only an occasional bump or so.

Often pimples are the aftermath of blackheads. Young folks squeeze the blackheads and cause irritation and infection. Then they finger the pimple, spreading the infection to other pores. Thus more pimples.

If you have a few pimples or blemishes, keep your hands away from them and apply calamine lotion at night. If the few pimples you have seem to be spreading or do not clear up you would be wise to see a dermatologist. This condition, if neglected, can lead to more serious complexion trouble later on.

One of the things a teen-ager is likely to fear most is being different. That is why one boy or girl of this age is so like another. They follow pretty much the same pattern. They have not matured sufficiently to have discovered their own individual tastes and to have invested in them.

So if you are a teen-ager remember that it is perfectly normal to want to belong to your crowd, and to be popular with them, but do not be afraid to have your own opinion and to live up to those opinions.

If you would like to have my leaflet No. 58, "Popularity," which is written especially for teen-agers send a stamped, self-addressed envelope with your request to Josephine Lowman in care of this newspaper.

Catering To Mother-in-Law Increases Her Selfishness

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: Shortly after our marriage three years ago my husband was shipped to Korea, where he remained for two years. While he was gone, I found and furnished an apartment for us. It was hard sledding since we had no furniture, no bank account and a baby on the way, but I managed—everything, that is, except my mother-in-law.

She kept writing to my husband that I didn't stop in to see her every day or I didn't do this and I didn't do that. Naturally he got peeved and we had some disagreeable correspondence back and forth. I tried to make him see that my time was fully occupied with the baby and the apartment and I couldn't take afternoons off to spend with his mother. She wasn't satisfied with a brief visit; it had to be a lengthy one.

My in-laws never thought to come to see me, to inquire if there was anything we needed or any help they could extend; even when the baby had pneumonia they stayed away in droves. They are interested in her only when I bring her to see them. At the beginning of our marriage I stopped to see my mother-in-law every day, but that wasn't enough. Finally I got so fed up with her constant complaints about me that I ceased the daily visits.

Now my husband is home and his folks expect as much work from him as they had before we married. Still, everything is one-sided. Not even a card for the baby's birthday did they send. I am sick from all this disagreement. I'm only 21 and perfectly willing to admit I could be wrong. What is your opinion of this problem?

Sari

ANSWER: There are some people who never will be satisfied no matter how much attention they get, and apparently your mother-in-law is one. Take all, give nothing; is her motto. The more conciliation you give, the more she wants.

SHE'S A PROBLEM

Any normal grandmother would certainly go to see her sick grandchild and as for birthdays—why, most women have to be forcibly restrained from buying out toy stores. Your letter was a straightforward and honest one, from which I can judge that you've made every attempt to get along with the woman, and your husband has put forth every effort to be a dutiful son. At this point, I'd say, stop. This can't be done gradually, either. Just end the catering swiftly.

By no means do I advocate eliminating such attentions as any son would give a mother but I do suggest that this one be given a chance to put herself out a bit, too.

DEAR MISS DIX: Perry, my problem, is 27 and I'm 20. We have been going together for three months and, as I am quite domestic, he often says what a fine wife I'd make. His sister says he's fond of me. His work is taking him to Europe for three to five years. He's leaving in a few weeks. Should I offer to wait for him or just continue being friends?

ANSWER: My, aren't we getting impetuous! It's up to the man, not the girl, to suggest waiting. Besides, three months hasn't given him time to make up his mind whether he wants you as a steady date or not. Marriage, you know, comes more readily to the feminine mind than to the masculine.

Let the man go abroad to his job, write to him cheerily but not romantically, and probably when he sees he's missing you he'll manage a trip back home to claim you as a bride. Meanwhile, don't rush to conclusions.

DEAR MISS DIX: Isn't a housewife entitled to a small allowance, even if her husband does the grocery buying? I'm a bride of three months and know nothing at all about my husband's salary because he has never discussed it with me. He never gives me a dime unless I ask for it.

ANSWER: You should have made it your business to learn such things as your husband's salary before you were married. You certainly are entitled to some personal allowance and the quicker you make arrangements for it, the better. Delay only sets the pattern permanently, and stinginess is a difficult thing to change.

Land Grant Made For War Service, Deed Discloses

Benefits for ex-servicemen are no recent thing, according to a federal grant of bounty land to a local man, given nearly a century ago for service in the Mexican War, and on file here Friday at the Ouachita parish clerk of court's office.

The patent, signed by President James Buchanan of the United States, in 1860, gave 160 acres of land in the Monroe area to William Anderson, who served in the navy during the War with Mexico.

This gift for honorable service during wartime was made possible through an act of congress of March 3, 1855 entitled, "An act in addition to certain acts granting bounty land to certain officers and soldiers who have been engaged in the military service of the United States."

Anderson was described in the deed as having been a seaman, who served on the ship Potomac with the United States navy during the Mexican War.

The exact location of the tract was described as being in "the SW 1/4 of NW 1/4 and W 1/2 of SW 1/4 of section 17, and NE 1/4 of SE 1/4 of section 18, in township 17N, range 2E, in the district of lands subject to sale at Monroe, Louisiana containing one hundred and fifty-nine and eighty-three hundredths of an acre."

The document also noted that the warrant had been assigned by Anderson to Jehu Dickerson, whose property it would become.

The document was filed locally upon request of the Southwest Natural Production Company of Shreveport, who referred to the tract as the Wilder estate. Apparently, it was being recorded here because of oil or gas leases that could be pending on the property.

Other signers of the original document on August 15, 1860, included J. A. B. Leonard, secretary and J. N. Granger, recorder of the general land office. The copy of the deed was photographed last week in the U. S. department of interior, bureau of land management, at Washington, D.C.

Blaze Destroys Negro Residence

Fire gutted the interior of a one-story frame, six-room residence at 1306 Medlock Street here Thursday night, Monroe firemen reported Friday.

The house was owned and occupied by Rev. Guy Futch, Negro, and his family, the firemen said. All of the interior of the house was damaged, but the fire did not burn through the roof.

According to firemen, the flames apparently broke out from a faulty heater while most of the large family was in a front room watching television.

All managed to escape without injury, but the fire was already through most of the house before firemen arrived.

Engine companies 105 and 102 made the call at 9:27 p.m. and returned to the stations at 11:23 p.m.

Catering To Mother-in-Law Increases Her Selfishness

By DOROTHY DIX

DEAR MISS DIX: Shortly after our marriage three years ago my husband was shipped to Korea, where he remained for two years. While he was gone, I found and furnished an apartment for us. It was hard sledding since we had no furniture, no bank account and a baby on the way, but I managed — everything, that is, except my mother-in-law.

She kept writing to my husband that I didn't stop in to see her every day or I didn't do this and I didn't do that. Naturally he got peeved and we had some disagreeable correspondence back and forth. I tried to make him see that my time was fully occupied with the baby and the apartment and I couldn't take afternoons off to spend with his mother. She wasn't satisfied with a brief visit; it had to be a lengthy one.

My in-laws never thought to come to see me, to inquire if there was anything we needed or any help they could extend; even when the baby had pneumonia they stayed away in droves. They are interested in her only when I bring her to see them. At the beginning of our marriage I stopped to see my mother-in-law every day, but that wasn't enough. Finally I got so fed up with her constant complaints about me that I ceased the daily visits.

Now my husband is home and his folks expect as much work from him as they had before we married. Still, everything is one-sided. Not even a card for the baby's birthday did they send. I am sick from all this disagreement. I'm only 21 and perfectly willing to admit I could be wrong. What is your opinion of this problem?

ANSWER: There are some people who never will be satisfied no matter how much attention they get, and apparently your mother-in-law is one. Take all, give nothing; is her motto. The more conciliation you give, the more she wants.

SHE'S A PROBLEM

Any normal grandmother would certainly go see her sick grandchild and as for birthdays — why, most women have to be forcibly restrained from buying out toy stores. Your letter was a straightforward and honest one, from which I can judge that you've made every attempt to get along with the woman, and your husband has put forth every effort to be a dutiful son. At this point, I'd say, stop. This can't be done gradually, either. Just end the catering swiftly.

By no means do I advocate eliminating such attentions as any son would give a mother but I do suggest that this one be given a chance to put herself out a bit, too.

DEAR MISS DIX: Perry, my problem, is 27 and I'm 20. We have been going together for three months and, as I am quite domestic, he often says what a fine wife I'd make. His sister says he's fond of me. His work is taking him to Europe for three to five years. He's leaving in a few weeks. Should I offer to wait for him or just continue being friends?

ANSWER: My, aren't we getting impetuous! It's up to the man, not the girl, to suggest waiting. Besides, three months hasn't given him time to make up his mind whether he wants you as a steady date or not. Marriage, you know, comes more readily to the feminine mind than to the masculine.

Let the man go abroad to his job, write to him cheerily but not romantically, and probably when he sees he's missing you he'll manage a trip back home to claim you as a bride. Meanwhile, don't rush to conclusions.

DEAR MISS DIX: Isn't a housewife entitled to a small allowance, even if her husband does the grocery buying? I'm a bride of three months and know nothing at all about my husband's salary because he has never discussed it with me. He never gives me a dime unless I ask for it.

Lights Over Broadway

The news from London is unhappy about Vivien Leigh. Few child stars develop into grown-up movie attractions. The exception is Margaret O'Brien. She will star in one at $2,500 per week. We dunno why Marlon frets so much about losing his hair. Bing's been doing pretty good without his. Things that make you wince: Handel's "Messiah" was interrupted on Christmas morn by a commercial for "The Rose Tattoo". "Pleasant," the film at the 55th Street, is getting excellent word-of-mouth publicity. Gary Cooper withnessed Shelley Winters' new hit, "Hatful of Rain," Monday eve. The cast played it as though it were premiere night. Shelley's last curtain emoting makes you gulp hard.

The Broadway Scene: The Maharajah of Baroda waiting for a bus on W. 57th Street. (His income is only $30,000 a week). The say Stokowski's gift to Lily Pons was her most exciting. An emerald brooch. Crew Cut thrush Rudy Mauger and Vegas dancer Cindy Brooks (only recently wed) plan to unstitch it already. Jean Pierre Aumont and Margaret Truman tele-a-lete. Helmut Dantine was romancing Marie MacDonald at Hick's, unless it was her exact double. A famed male movie star attacked his Park Avenue psychiatrist outside an East Side bolle. Nobody found out Why? The door-man had to tear them apart. Grace Kelly's newest admirer is Spanish actor Peter Damon, Cary Grant's look-alike. "Red Roses for Me," the new Sean O'Casey play which opened last night, is having money trouble. It cost $80,000 to get the show on the boards in New Haven and, despite good notices there and in Boston, there has been a $20,000 loss to date.

Leigh Snowden and Dick Contino called it off again last week. Margie Hart and ex-groom Seaman Jacobs (divorced recently) date regularly. Jane Wyman's former husband (Fred Karger) has a new romance, Harriet McClintock, dance-tutor for Arthur Murray. Milton Rackmil (chief at Universal-Int'l Pictures) is serious about Joanne Jordan. She does the Hazel Bishop commercials on "This Is Your Life". Joan Baruch's new crush is Latin America's Emilio Bove. Not all Copa babes go to Dollywood. Three grads are now at Al Cooper's Herald Sq. restaurant. Veteran Broadway press-agent Louis Cline (for the Lunts and 80 B'way productions) and Gladys McDonnell merge in Boston. She's the hostess at Steuben's, next door to the Colonial Theater, Boston. Dr. Saul Blau's favorite prescription is songbird Dee Drummond.

Big Line Favors Auburn Over Vandy In Gator Bowl

D'Agostino Heads Plainsmen Today In Florida Scrap

By MERCER BAILEY
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—One of the reasons Auburn is favored by a touchdown to beat Vanderbilt in tomorrow's Gator Bowl football game is a big line built around All-American tackle Frank D'Agostino.

Plainsmen partisans claim—and Auburn coaches agree—that D'Agostino, 6-foot-1 and 233, and M. L. Brackett, 6-4 and 210, give Auburn the best brace of tackles on any one team in the nation. And the coaches rate Jimmy Phillips (235) and Jerry Elliott (187) as fine a pair of ends as any team can boast.

Auburn's starting line is big, averaging 214 pounds per man. And all the boys have good speed.

Vanderbilt, however, canoes. Auburn little—except a 15-pound per man weight advantage, Coach Art Guepe is just as high on his ends, Tommy Harkins (190) and Joe Stephenson (195), and his guards, Larry Frank (198) and Larry Hayes (202), as Coach Ralph Jordan is on his ends and tackles.

Both Stephens and Harkins are good receivers—they caught 11 passes each during the 1954 season and 14 each the year before—and no team made any long gains around them last season. Hayes and Frank are aggressive, rugged tacklers and fine blockers.

"From what we've seen in game films and from what we've been told, we've developed a healthy respect for these Vanderbilt guards," said Jordan. "They must be tough."

Auburn's line is the strongest in the southern team conference, and the two nations are expected to be in the nation's top ten in the line. Auburn's line is expected to be one of the best in the nation, and the two nations are expected to be in the nation's top ten in the line.

In addition to his fine defensive play, D'Agostino was the last of the usual led the way when Auburn needed that important first-down yardage. The husky Philadelphia tackle was snapped up by the professional Phil Tatum, Tennessee's leading round of the pro draft this fall, he should be in top shape for the game.

The big men on offense, in addition to the pass-catching line, are backfield. Bob James and Babe Boone of Auburn and Charlie Hays of Vandy are expected to be in the game.

New Year Football Show Getting Underway Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press
Auburn and Vanderbilt, clashing in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl, share the spotlight with a trio of all-star attractions today in the opening phase of college football's dizzy bowl weekend.

The height of the annual New Year's gridiron madness will be reached Monday with the four major bowl games and three others of lesser stature which will net more than two million dollars from 100,000 fans.

The traditional East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, with Ohio State's Howard Hopalong Cassidy in the East lineup, heads today's fare. A crowd of 61,000 is expected to view the contest in San Francisco, with millions watching on TV. Beginning at 4:45 p.m. EST.

Here's today's schedule, with radio and television plans:

East-West Shrine game, San Francisco, 4:45 p.m., NBC television, MBS radio.

Gator Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.—Vanderbilt (7-3-0) vs. Auburn (4-1-1), 2 p.m. CBS television and radio.

Blue-Gray game, Montgomery, Ala., 2:30 p.m., NBC television, CBS radio.

Salad Bowl, Phoenix, Ariz.—Skyline Conference All-Stars vs. Border Conference All-Stars, 4 p.m., on national TV or radio.

At San Francisco, the Eastern squad, heavily favored by talent from the powerful Big 10, is rated a 7-point favorite over the West, largely exploiting Pacific Coast and Southwest talent.

Cassidy, two-time All-American backfield who was voted the Heisman award as the nation's top player in the national region of college football, who is handling the East squad.

Hayes is expected to lead his tackling team, carrying the entire squad could see action, but he did this year, and 11th nationally on defense, averaging an average of 200 yards a game.

In addition to his fine defensive play, D'Agostino was the last of the usual led the way when Auburn needed that important first-down yardage. The husky Philadelphia tackle was snapped up by the professional Phil Tatum, Tennessee's leading round of the pro draft this fall, he should be in top shape for the game.

The big men on offense, in addition to the pass-catching line, are backfield. Bob James and Babe Boone of Auburn and Charlie Hays of Vandy are expected to be in the game.

guard Calvin Jones of Iowa and center Ken Vargo of Ohio State as co-captains.

One of the East's top players, fullback Don Schaefer of Notre Dame, was sidelined with an attack of influenza but he insisted he would be ready to play.

Jess Hill of Southern California, coaching the West, said Jim Contratto of Southern Cal would start at quarterback, with Preston Carpenter of Arkansas and Herb Naken of Utah at halves and Henry Moore of Arkansas at full.

At Montgomery, the Blue team is favored by 6 points over the Southern Grays, mainly on the strength of the passing of Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and the receiving of Harold Burnine of Missouri, who caught 44 passes during the season to rate as the nation's No. 1 snapper.

The Grays, coached by Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State, also have an air potential in throwers, Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Bart Starr of Alabama and receiver Howard Schnellenberger, Kentucky end.

The Gator Bowl game features two strong running teams, with Auburn holding a 16-pound to the man edge in the line and Vandy slightly heavier in the backfield.

Auburn is favored by 6 points over a Vanderbilt team which showed considerable punch in its later games.

Don Orr, Vanderbilt's regular quarterback who dislocated his right shoulder in the closing game against Tennessee, appears ready to go at top speed. Auburn fullback Joe Tulliere, rated by a cold zone, is expected to be okay.

The Border Conference All-Stars are a one-touchdown pick over the Skyline group at Phoenix. The game is expected to draw 12,000. A turnout of 25,000 is anticipated at Jacksonville with 20,000 sitting on the Blue-Gray crowd at Montgomery.

In the only doubles upset Aguerro and Jungle sidelined Eddie Maylon of Trenton, N. J., defending champion in singles and doubles, and Savitt, 6-3, 6-2.

Finals in singles and doubles will be played tomorrow.

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Vince Lombardi signed a new two-year contract today as head coach of the New York Giants of the National Football League.

A member of Fordham's famous "Seven Blocks of Granite" in his undergraduate days, Lombardi has been on the head coach Jim Lee Howell for two years.

By ERNEST BARTON
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Dick Savitt ignored pre-tourney rankings again today and out-stroked fourth-seeded Tom Brown Jr. of San Francisco 6-3, 5-7, 6-4 in the semi-finals of the Sugar Bowl Invitational tennis tournament.

Top-seeded Vic Seixas of Philadelphia edged veteran Gardner Mulloy of Denver, Colo., 6-3, 6-4 in the other semi-final match.

Savitt's victory was his second in two days over a seeded opponent. The 28-year-old former Wimbledon and Australian champion, now a Corpus Christi, Tex., oilman, by-passed by the seeding committee, whipped Bernard Bartzan, San Angelo, Tex., No. 2 seeded player, in the quarterfinals.

The Savitt-Brown match, a tense baseline battle between two of the hardest hitters in tennis, was close all the way.

The Mulloy-Seixas match also was close. But Seixas' ability to win the important points seemed to be the difference.

The top-seeded doubles team of Mulloy and Brown reached the finals with a 6-4, 2-6, 6-3 victory over Grant Golden of Chicago and Bartzan.

Seixas and Sidney Schwartz of New York City, the No. 2 seeded team, trounced two Tulane University students, Henry Jungles of New Orleans and Jose Aguerro of Brazil 6-0, 6-1, in the other semi-final match.

In the morning doubles play Brown and Mulloy outlasted Bob Bedard of Canada and Bob Howe of Australia 6-4, 3-6, 5-3. Golden and Bartzan beat Allen Morris of Atlanta, Ga., and Hargrett Westers of New Orleans 6-1, 6-2 while Seixas and Schwartz ousted Armando of Brazil and Johann Kupperburger of South Africa 6-4, 6-1.

In the only doubles upset Aguerro and Jungle sidelined Eddie Maylon of Trenton, N. J., defending champion in singles and doubles, and Savitt, 6-3, 6-2.

Finals in singles and doubles will be played tomorrow.

MILAN, Italy, Dec. 28 (AP)—Cuban Orlando Zulueta will meet Duilio Loi of Italy, the European lightweight titleholder, here Jan. 21 for a possible shot at the world championship held by Wallace (Bud) Smith of Cincinnati.

Speed, Deception Due To Feature Salad Scramble

PHOENIX, Ariz., Dec. 30 (AP)—A battle of speed and deception against power and weight is the prospect when all-star teams from the Skyline and Borden Conference clash in the Salad Bowl football game here tomorrow.

With both sides handling a football for the first time together—most of them were playing against each other only a month ago—it's anybody's guess who'll come out on top.

The Skyliners, piloted by Bob Mitchell, former New Mexico coach, are counting on a speedy backfield led by quarterback Jim Bowen of Denver, the season's leading touchdown passer.

In front of him Bowen will have two fine receivers, Larry Ross of Denver and Gary Sanders of Colorado A. and M. And if it comes to running, there's fullback Dale Shupe of Denver, who can do 100 yards in less than 10 seconds.

Coach Dan Devine of Arizona State at Tempe will be guiding a defensive line that averages 202 pounds. Among its giants are 245-pound John Mellekas of Arizona and John Wadewski of Harding-Simmons, the heavyweights at 260.

The Border team will have Ed McCluskey of Arizona at fullback, and he may offer some sort of answer to the Skyliner's speed. The game starting at 3 p.m. (CST) is played to raise funds for underprivileged children.

Defense Likely To Be Big Factor In Orange Bowl

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Most of the handicappers for Monday's Orange Bowl game dwell constantly on Oklahoma's offense and Maryland's defense, but things could easily turn out the other way.

Certainly Oklahoma is no slouch on defense although its 365 points and offensive leadership of the nation are the eye-catchers.

Coach Bud Wilkinson of Oklahoma has joined those who keep pointing to the fact that 10 teams scored only 57 points on Maryland and it's been three years since anyone scored three touchdowns.

He keeps harping also on Maryland being the best defensive team against rushing in the nation the past season.

But Oklahoma did even better than Maryland in preventing scoring. Its 10 opponents scored only 54 points despite the fact Colorado made three touchdowns and Pitt two.

Also it was Oklahoma's defense that "won" the 1954 Orange Bowl game with Maryland. Maryland's back was broken in the first period when it got to the four and couldn't score in four tries. Twice more Maryland got within scoring range and was repulsed before Oklahoma got the game's only touchdown.

The shutout was the first suffered by Maryland in 51 games. It was only the third time it has happened since coach Jim Tatum came to Maryland in 1947.

Coach Tatum isn't among those who is being lulled into overlooking Oklahoma's defense.

"It is the best college defensive team I have seen in two years," he says. "The doesn't include our team, of course."

The mainspring of the Oklahoma defense from Tatum's view is the linebacking done by center Jerry Tubbs and fullback Billy Pricer.

"They make their tackles look better than they are," he said.

2 Touchdowns Can Take Sugar Bowl, Says Dodd

By ED TUNSTALL
NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Coach Bobby Dodd predicted today the team that scores two touchdowns could win Monday's Sugar Bowl game between his speedy Georgia Tech team and powerful Pittsburgh.

Dodd and the Tech team arrived by chartered plane shortly before noon to start final training sessions and told newsmen the game could resolve itself into a low-scoring defensive duel.

The 47-year-old Tech coach, gunning for his seventh straight bowl victory, praised Pittsburgh's defense and indicated the rugged Pitt line could prove hard to handle.

"This Pitt team plays like the professionals," he said as he relaxed with a cigar. "They're tough in the middle of the line and they're not a bit slow for their size."

Dodd indicated Tech would not desert its regular season formula and said Tech would try to out-speed the Panthers on wide end sweeps, a favorite Dodd maneuver in the past several seasons.

"We're going to play this one like all the rest of our games," he continued. "If we can, we'll move on the ground, using our speed to its best advantage. But if we find the Pitt team is too hard to move, we'll start throwing and we have had some success passing this year."

Pitt coach Johnny Michelosen said earlier this week he had most respect for Tech's speed on the flanking maneuvers and quarterback Wade Mitchell's clutch passing.

The Pitt team has been working here since Monday and the Panthers coach has devoted lengthy sessions on pass defense and drills against end runs.

Dodd also said he believed punting may play a major role since each team has an outstanding kicker. Pitt guard Bill Schmitt averaged slightly better than 42 yards during the regular season while halfback Johnny Menger of Tech showed a 35-yard average.

Dodd said he thought the loss of fullback Tom Jenkins would hurt the Pitt team defensively, but he said he wasn't banking on it helping the Tech offense.

"We're going to try and set them up for a long run," he said. "It might mean the difference."

Big Line Favors Auburn Over Vandy In Gator Bowl

D'Agostino Heads Plainsmen Today In Florida Scrap

By MERCER BAILEY
JACKSONVILLE, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—One of the reasons Auburn is favored by a touchdown to beat Vanderbilt in tomorrow's Gator Bowl football game is a big line built around All-America tackle Frank D'Agostino.

Plainsmen partisans claim—and Auburn coaches agree—that D'Agostino, 6-foot-1 and 233, and M. L. Brackett, 6-4 and 240, give Auburn the best brace of tackles on any one team in the nation. And the coaches rate Jimmy Phillips (205) and Jerry Elliott (187) as fine a pair of ends as any team can boast.

Auburn's starting line is big, averaging 214 pounds per man. And all the boys have good speed.

Vanderbilt, however, concedes Auburn little—except a 13-pound per man weight advantage. Coach Art Guepe is just as high on his ends, Tommy Harkins (190) and Joe Stephenson (195), and his guards, Larry Frank (198) and Larry Hayes (202), as Coach Ralph Jordan is on his ends and tackles.

Both Stephens and Harkins are good receivers—they caught 11 passes each during the 1955 season and 14 each the year before—and no team made any long gains around them last season. Hayes and Frank are aggressive, rugged tacklers and fine blockers.

"From what we've seen in game films and from what we've been told, we've developed a healthy respect for those Vandy Guards," said Jordan. "They must be terrific."

Auburn's line was the stingiest in the Southeastern Conference during the past season and rated fourth in the nation defensively, allowing an average of only 183.2 yards per game. Vandy was third in the S.E.C. and 11th nationally on defense, surrendering an average of 200 yards a game.

In addition to his fine defensive play, D'Agostino was the lad who usually led the way when Auburn needed that important first-down yardage. The husky Philadelphian was snapped up by the professional Philadelphia Eagles in the second round of the pro draft this fall.

The big men on offense, in addition to the pass-catching ends, are halfbacks Fob James and Bobby Hoppe of Auburn and Charley Horton and Joe Scales of Vandy, plus

New Year Football Show Getting Underway Today

By WILL GRIMSLEY
The Associated Press

Auburn and Vanderbilt, clashing in Jacksonville's Gator Bowl, share the spotlight with a trio of all-star attractions today in the opening phase of college football's dizzy bowl weekend.

The height of the annual New Year's gridiron madness will be reached Monday with the four major bowl games and three others of lesser stature which will net more than two million dollars from 400,000 fans.

The traditional East-West Shrine game at San Francisco, with Ohio State's Howard (Hopalong) Cassidy in the East lineup, heads today's fare. A crowd of 61,000 is expected to view the contest in San Francisco, with millions watching on TV, beginning at 4:45 p.m. EST.

Here's today's schedule, with radio and television plans:

East-West Shrine game, San Francisco, 4:45 p.m., NBC television, MBS radio.

Gator Bowl, Jacksonville, Fla.—Vanderbilt (7-3-0) vs. Auburn (-1-1), 2 p.m. CBS television and radio.

Blue-Gray game, Montgomery, Ala., 2:30 p.m. NBC television, CBS radio.

Salad Bowl, Phoenix, Ariz.—Skyline Conference All-Stars vs. Border Conference All-Stars, 4 p.m. on national TV or radio.

At San Francisco, the Eastern squad, heavily flavored with talent from the powerful Big 10, is rated a 7-point favorite over the West, largely exploiting Pacific Coast and Southwest talent.

Cassidy, two-time All-America halfback who was voted the Heisman award as the season's top player, is the principal weapon of his old coach, Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who is handling the East squad.

Hayes refused to list his starting lineup, saying the entire squad would see action, but he did disclose that the team had elected fullbacks Joe Childress of the Plainsmen and the Commodores' Phil King and Don Hunt.

Childress missed yesterday's workout with a cold and slight fever but he returned to the field for today's brief limbering up drill. Trainer Kenny Howard said he should be in top shape for the game.

A sell-out crowd of 36,000 is expected for the 1 p.m. (CST) kickoff. The game will be televised by CBS.

guard Calvin Jones of Iowa and center Ken Vargo of Ohio State as co-captains.

One of the East's top players, fullback Don Schaefer of Notre Dame, was sidelined with an attack of influenza but he insisted he would be ready to play.

Jess Hill of Southern California, coaching the West, said Jim Conratto of Southern Cal would start at quarterback, with Preston Carpenter of Arkansas and Herb Nakker of Utah at halves and Henry Moore of Arkansas at full.

At Montgomery, the Blue team is favored by 6 points over the Southern Grays, mainly on the strength of the passing of Wisconsin's Jim Haluska and the receiving of Harold Burnine of Missouri, who caught 44 passes during the season to rate as the nation's No. 1 snagger.

The Grays, coached by Paul Dietzel of Louisiana State, also have an air potential in throwers Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Earl Starr of Alabama and receiver Howard Schnellenberger, Kentucky end.

The Gator Bowl game features two strong running teams, with Auburn holding a 16-pound to the edge in the line and Vandy slightly heavier in the backfield. Auburn is favored by 6 points over a Vanderbilt team which showed considerable punch in its last games.

Don Orr, Vanderbilt's regular quarterback who dislocated his right shoulder in the closing game against Tennessee, appears ready to go at top speed. Auburn fullback Joe Childress, bitten by a cold germ, is expected to be okay.

The Border Conference All-Stars are a one-touchdown pick over the Skyline group at Phoenix. The game is expected to draw 12,000.

A turnout of 36,000 is anticipated at Jacksonville with 20,000 sitting in on the Blue-Gray affair at Montgomery.

Broncos Nip Tribe For Northeast Title

Central Oklahoma Masters Redskins To Tune Of 66-60

By TED HECKATHORN

The Central Oklahoma Broncos, using a tight under-the-hoop defense and guarding Northeast ace Bill Bradley like a hawk all evening, defeated the Redskins, 66-60, last night at the West Monroe High gymnasium to win the Northeast State College Invitational basketball championship.

In the third-place consolation tilt beginning an hour earlier, Louisiana College came from behind to beat Southwestern of Memphis, 66-52.

The Oklahoma team, which sat and closely observed every second of the Northeast-Southwestern game Thursday night, had Bradley and the Tribe tagged well for the "inside" action under the Northeast basket was tight and rugged; and Bradley, who sank nine field goals and two free throws the preceding evening, was held to a lone goal in the second half and two charity tosses in the title tilt.

The Indians, trailing throughout, and unable to work the ball in, were led in the point department eight goals for 16 points, all from outside. Lloyd Crocker, who played a whole of a game under the nets, was next with 11 points, and Bobby Patterson, easily the outstanding defensive player of the fracas, sank ten.

For the winners, forward Leo Holland was chief point-maker, with 23; and skyscraping center Skip Cleaver was outstanding defensively.

In the consolation, Memphis led at intermission and all through the first half, but the Wildcats caught up early in the second. They fell behind by seven points late in the game, but fought into a 60-60 tie and a four-point lead with 45 seconds to go.

Frank Mancil was the high point man for the Wildcats and the game, with 21; and Richard Gillion and Billy Young each had 18 for the Lynx.

The SEC commissioner fined Auburn $2,000 on Dec. 21 after reporting that Auburn asst. Coach Hal Herring gave the Beaubes twins of Gadsden, Ala., $500 each while attempting to persuade them to enroll at Auburn. The money was returned.

He ruled the brothers, Harry and Robert Beaubes, ineligible to play for Auburn, but said they could compete on teams of any other SEC member. They have not yet indicated where they intend to go to school.

Both Auburn and Alabama had wanted to land the Beaubes. Dr. Ralph B. Draughon, Auburn president, apologized for the action of Herring after Moore's penalty against his school was announced last week.

The fine against Alabama was its first in the 22-year history of the conference. It was the maximum which Moore could impose for such a violation.

Undeclared Dons Roll Over Uclans In Holiday Final

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Undeclared San Francisco, paced by All-American Bill Russell, rolled over U.C.L.A. with surprising ease, 70-53, for its 36th straight victory of capture the E.C.A.C. Holiday Festival tournament tonight before 16,357 spectators at Madison Square Garden.

Holy Cross nipped defending champion Duquesne, 61-57, in the opening half of the double header to gain third place.

The 6-10 Russell was held to 17 points, his lowest scoring total of the tournament, but he did such a brilliant job on defense that he was voted the most valuable player of the tournament, on 12 of the 13 ballots.

One ballot went to K. C. Jones, Russell's teammate, who played a whole of a game. The 6-2, 205-pound senior scored only nine points but he set up most of the plays for Russell and company and did a fine defensive job on Morris Taft, the Uclans playmaker.

The Dons, who now have a 10-game winning streak this season, need only three more to equal the all-time college mark of 39 consecutive victories turned in by Long Island in 1935-37 and equaled by Seton Hall in 1939-41. Their next three games will be played at home against mediocre opposition—Pepperdine, Santa Clara and Fresno State.

U.C.L.A., the last quintet to defeat San Francisco, never was in the game once the Dons jumped off to a 9-2 lead. After 10 minutes of the opening half the Dons had built up a 22-12 lead.

Everybody has a hand in the scoring as Russell dropped them in from inside with lay-ups and tap-ins, Jones and Harold Perry drove in for hooks and jump shots and Mike Farmer and Carl Boldt hit from outside with long one handers.

Notre Dame Defeats Utah In Sugar Final, 70 To 65

By JAMES SAGGUS

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Notre Dame won its second straight Sugar Bowl basketball title tonight, defeating Utah 70-65 as forward John Smyth turned in a 27-point effort for the Irish.

Notre Dame took command of the game in the second half after trailing 37-32 at halftime. The Irish tied the score at 59-59 on a jump shot by center Lloyd Aubrey and went ahead for good on a field goal by guard Robert Devine with seven minutes left.

Probably the most decisive break for Notre Dame came in the second half when Utah's ace center Art Bunte fouled out with more than 15 minutes remaining. The loss of Bunte, a top rebounder and jump shot artist spelled the beginning of the end for Utah.

Utah, the nation's seventh-ranked basketball team, had won six of eight games, including an 89-84 victory over Marquette in the first round of the tournament. Notre Dame beat Alabama 86-80 in last night's opening action.

Forward George Linn's 35 points paced Alabama to a 77-75 victory over Marquette in the battle for third place.

Linn's scoring output was a key factor in Alabama's ability to pull ahead of Marquette each time the losers threatened in the second half. He sank 13 field goals and nine of 10 free throws to come within one point of the Sugar Bowl scoring record for a regulation length game, set in 1951 by Villanova's Larry Hennessey.

Lockers Of Frog Gridders Looted During Practice

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Eighteen members of the Texas Christian University football squad were robbed while working out here today in preparation for their Cotton Bowl game Monday with Mississippi.

Thieves entered the dressing room at Onway Stadium, football field of Southern Methodist University where the T.C.U. squad was working out, and took $347 and some pocket books.

The locker room had been left locked when the squad went out to practice and it was believed someone had hidden in the place. The door was open when the squad returned to the dressing room after practice.

Strangely wallets left on top of the lockers were not disturbed—only the boys' clothing was pilfered.

Jay McCullough and John Mitchell, two guards on the squad, each lost $40. The other lost lesser amounts.

Police were called and an investigation made but nothing was uncovered as to the identity of the thief or thieves.

Prepares Unbalanced Line In Split T Plan

MIAMI, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Coach Jim Tatum, a nine-year user of the split-T, said today he will employ an unbalanced line with it for the first time next season.

He said the reason is "That you usually have only one real fast halfback and the unbalanced line will put more power in front of him so he can gain a step getting through or around the line."

Asked where he planned to install the change, Tatum said "I hope it is at Maryland." There have been strongly recurring reports he is considering leaving Maryland and going to North Carolina after playing Oklahoma in the Orange Bowl Monday.

Columbia Thumps Tulane In Orange Bowl Consolation

MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Columbia's drive in the last seven minutes carried it to a 64-61 victory over Tulane in the battle for third place in the Orange Bowl Basketball Tournament.

Miami and West Virginia immediately began the game for the championships.

MOUNTAINEERS WIN
 MIAMI BEACH, Fla., Dec. 30 (AP)—West Virginia's accuracy at the free throw line gave the Mountaineers an 82-78 decision over the University of Miami in the finals of the first Orange Bowl Basketball Tournament before a crowd of 3,571 tonight.

West Virginia clicked on 33 of 47 free throws while Miami could muster only 20 out of 35.

Lehner, who could not get a field goal in 10 tries and missed 5 of 7 free throws Thursday, put on a one man show against Tulane early in the second half as he made seven points to wipe out Tulane's margin.

Morrall's Ailing Hand Not Serious Says Bowl Coach

PASADENA, Calif., Dec. 30 (AP)—All-American quarterback Earl Morrall of Michigan State came up with a slightly swollen right hand today but the 21-year-old senior said he was not worried about his ability to pass against U.C.L.A. in the Rose Bowl Monday.

Coach Duffy Daugherty was likewise unalarmed, noting that his field general has been bothered by the hand all season and that it never hampered his throwing.

Morrall said he jammed a couple of fingers in pass defense yesterday. He reiterated he was not disturbed but as a precaution, he was ducking all handshakes.

"It's a little sore, so I don't want too many people squeezing it," Morrall said.

Daugherty and coach Red Sanders, meanwhile, expressed confidence tempered with caution as the game draws nearer.

DUKE UPSET
 RALEIGH, N.C., Dec. 30 (AP)—North Carolina, behind by 16 points in the first half, staged a spectacular comeback to knock Duke from the unbeaten ranks, 74-64, tonight and go into the championship finals of the Dixie Classic against North Carolina State which defeated Wake Forest, 70-58, this afternoon.

Crowder Boomed As New Addition To Sooner Staff

LAWTON, Okla., Dec. 30 (AP)—Eddie Crowder, former star University of Oklahoma quarterback, will replace Pete Elliott on the Sooner coaching staff in 1956, sports editor Lew Johnson of the Lawton Constitution wrote Friday.

Elliott is expected to become head coach at the University of Nebraska.

Johnson, well-known Oklahoma sports writer, quoted a reliable source, but did not reveal his identity.

Johnson said that Crowder, now assistant coach on Col. Earl Blaik's West Point staff, is due to receive his discharge from the Army about Sept. 1, 1956. Crowder is a first lieutenant.

The Constitution story stated Oklahoma Coach Bud Wilkinson conferred with Crowder concerning the backfield coaching post at OU recently, and told his former field general the job was his.

"There will be no definite announcement, of course," the story said, "until after the Oklahoma-Maryland clash next Monday in the Orange Bowl."

"Elliott will officially resign shortly after the Orange Bowl to become head coach at Nebraska, and Crowder will replace him on the Sooner staff."

19 Seniors Checking In Notre Dame Suits

SOUTH BEND, Ind., Dec. 30 (AP)—Nineteen seniors—14 of them linemen—have played their last football game for Notre Dame, but replacements are on the way from what reportedly is one of the university's best freshmen squads.

Those most frequently mentioned as outstanding prospects include: Guard Allen Ecuery, 197, New Orleans.

Johnny Temple stole 19 bases. Wally Post was next best on the team with seven steals.

East Six-Point Favorite To Capture Shrine Game

By CHRIS EDMONDS

SAN FRANCISCO, Dec. 30 (AP)—Hopalong Cassidy and 23 other college football stars from the East were solid one-touchdown favorites today to grind out a victory over the West tomorrow in the 31st annual Shrine charity game at Kezar Stadium.

A sellout crowd of 61,000, despite forecasts of rain, is expected to watch last year's Rose Bowl coaches match wits for a second time with the cream of this fall's college grid talent from all corners of the nation at their command.

Woody Hayes of Ohio State, who defeated Jess Hill's Southern California Trojans 20-7 at Pasadena a year ago, is in charge of the East's 24-man squad. Hayes' team, headed by the brilliant Cassidy, boasts a host of "name" talent. The West is coached by Hill who says his squad is "pink-checked and whiskerless but has a mighty hunger."

The squads go into the game with the West holding a 14-12 bulge, with four ties. The East eked out a 13-12 verdict a year ago.

The possibility of rain—and there's been an over-abundance here since before Christmas—could cut down on the effectiveness of Cassidy and such other East running threats as Lenny Moore of Penn State, Bob Pascoe of Duke and Don Schaefer of Notre Dame. The field is bare of grass between the 30-yard lines and footing is a cinch to be sloppy.

Hayes has emphasized his ground game during the nine-day practice session, but has a pair of good-passing quarterbacks in Gerry Reichow of Iowa and Em Lindbeck of Illinois. Both were among the top 20 tossers nationally last fall. The East ends are small, as flankers go, although Boston University's 6-foot John Berdice was the nation's No. 2 receiver in 1955.

Inasmuch as Hayes banded through the Big Ten for his second straight title on a bruising running game, and has his two-time All-America halfback on hand in Cassidy, the feeling persists that the East will concentrate on running with the ball rather than throwing it.

Such is not the case with the West. Hill has a wealth of capable receivers, each one as big or bigger than anyone the East can field, and two adequate passers in his own Jimmy Contratto and big John Roach of Southern Methodist.

The West ends range from College of the Pacific's A. D. Williams and Baylor's Henry Greninger at 6-2 to U.S.C.'s Leon Clarke and Texas' Menan Schriever at 6-4. In between is Lamar Meyer of Colorado at 6-3.

Contratto, a southpaw thrower, is well-drilled in Hill's multiple offense which includes several versions of the T plus a touch of single wing. He is an accurate short passer. The rangy Roach, who towers 6-4, has fitted in with Hill's aerial plans, too.

Each coach has promised that every man on his squad will see action. Hill reluctantly named a starting lineup. Hayes has refused, but personally spent much practice time with one unit which has Cassidy in the backfield.

The game will be televised nationally (NBC) and broadcast coast-to-coast (MBC). The kickoff is scheduled at 4 p.m. (CST).

Grambling Star Pushes Scoring To 3,192 Points

By THE ASSOCIATED PRESS
 Everytime Bob Hopkins of Grambling College (La.) makes a point he adds to his already imposing intercollegiate basketball scoring record. And Hopkins is dead serious about making the mark stick for a long time.

The Louisiana sharp-shooter dunked in 86 points in three games last week to boost his career total to 3,192 points, 233 more than anybody else ever has scored in college competition.

Dave Olmstead of Clarkson (N. Y.) is second with a 31.8 average followed by Bill Reigel, McNeese State (La.), 31.1. Chester Webb Georgia Teachers, 31.0, and Bill Bodouva, Pratt Institute, 30.8.

Tigers Obtain Wojey From Brooklyn Farm

DETROIT, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Detroit Tigers announced today they had acquired right-hander Pete Wojey from Brooklyn's Montreal farm team in the International League.

The Tigers sent Leo Cristante, another right-hander, and cash to Montreal in exchange for Wojey.

Wojey, 33, had a 12-6 record for Montreal last season. Cristante, 29, was 0-1 with the Tigers.

Ken Boyer, St. Louis Cardinal rookie, was third in base stealing in the National League in 1955 with 22 steals. Bill Bruton had 25 and Willie Mays 24.

Dietzel, Faurot Match Grid Wits At Montgomery

MONTGOMERY, Ala., Dec. 30 (AP)—Two top collegiate football coaches, "old master" Don Faurot of Missouri and Louisiana State rookie headmaster, Paul Dietzel, match gridiron know-how here Saturday in the 18th annual Blue-Gray classic.

For Faurot, originator of the split-T offense, it will be a repeat performance. His Yankee forces squeezed out a 14-7 win last year and he looks optimistically for a second victory over the Rebels.

And with his football wizardry and his roster heavily loaded with Yankee stars, he could very well mar Dietzel's Blue-Gray debut.

But the youthful Dietzel, who listed LSU from the "football drums" this season, isn't conceding a point to Faurot or his charges.

The LSU mentor perhaps can field a harder hitting attack, built around the South's best passers, Bob Hardy of Kentucky and Alabama's Bart Starr. And when he needs that extra yardage, he can call on two of his own boys, halfback Levi (Chuck) Johns and line-buster O. K. Ferguson, plus the breakaway running of Mississippi State's Art Davis.

Faurot was expected to use Wisconsin's ace passer Jim Huska to bombard the Rebels. On the receiving end will be Missouri flankman Harold Burnine, the nation's leading pass receiver this season with 44 receptions. Faurot calls Burnine "the best pass receiver I ever coached."

If the overall series record could be taken as an indication of the winner, the Rebels would set the nod. The South has won 12 while dropping four games.

Cotton Bowlers Hold First Work At Contest Site

DALLAS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Mississippi was a little late but the Cotton Bowl teams arrived in Dallas today in time for workouts—their first at the site of the Jan. 2 football game.

Coach Johnny Vaught and 35 Rebels from Mississippi flew in at 3:20 p.m., 2½ hours later than expected, and it cut short Vaught's practice plans. Fog at Atlanta that held up delivery of equipment for the flight from Memphis to Dallas caused the delay.

Texas Christian 55 strong, arrived by bus almost two hours earlier.

The two coaches—Vaught and Abe Martin of Texas Christian—said their teams were in top shape and sparring for a gridiron fight.

Mayor R. L. Thornton of Dallas and Felix R. McKnight, president of the Cotton Bowl, greeted both squads with speeches of welcome and pretty Southern Methodist University co-eds presented the coaches and players with the traditional Texas hats. Vaught's was too small and he had to change it.

Both coaches said their workouts here would be open and quite a few fans turned out to watch them this afternoon. Both teams will practice tomorrow afternoon and have limbering up drills Sunday.

Vaught said his boys were "high spirited and looking forward to this game. They're in wonderful shape and I believe they came here to play."

Martin said virtually the same thing about his team.

More Scholarships

NEW ORLEANS, Dec. 30 (AP)—Tulane coach Andy Pilney announced today the award of two more grant-in-aid scholarships to high school athletes.

The football scholarships went to Roger Reeves, 185-pound all-state guard from Minden, La., and Bill Clements, 185-pound all-conference guard from Shelbyville, Ky.

Reeves, a six-footer, will join fellow Minden graduates Bobby Hudson and Pat Watson, tackles on the 1955 Tulane freshman team.

Clements, five feet, 10 inches tall, is from the home town of line coach Jack Green.

Cotton New York

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower today. Much of the activity represented evening up operations in the final trading session of 1955.

The market rallied mildly at times, but any pronounced advance was discouraged by flurries of liquidation and hedging.

Much of the support in near months was credited to short covering by Liverpool sources. Liverpool cotton futures broke sharply.

Liverpool sources were nervous over the possibility that the C.C.C. will accept bids considerably under United States levels on its sale of surplus cotton abroad. The C.C.C. program to sell up to one million bales surplus stocks gets underway on Jan. 3.

Quotations in the trade were that exporters will submit bids around 25 cents a pound level. The Houston price of middling 15-16 inch cotton was 35.50 cents a pound. The Agriculture Department announced the mid-December cotton parity was 35.09 cents a pound, basis 1/2 inch middling. This was up 12 points from the November figure.

However, the interest of traders focused more on the mid-January parity figure when the modernized parity formula will succeed the present one.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower than the previous close.

Cotton

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Cotton futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower today. Much of the activity represented evening up operations in the final trading session of 1955.

The market rallied mildly at times, but any pronounced advance was discouraged by flurries of liquidation and hedging.

Much of the support in near months was credited to short covering by Liverpool sources. Liverpool cotton futures broke sharply. Liverpool sources were nervous over the possibility that the C.C.C. will accept bids considerably under United States levels on its sale of surplus cotton abroad. The C.C.C. program to sell up to one million bales surplus stocks gets underway on Jan. 3.

Guesses in the trade were that exporters will submit bids around 25 cents a pound level. The Houston price of middling 15-16 inch cotton was 33.50 cents a pound. The Agriculture Department announced the mid-December cotton parity was 35.09 cents a pound, basis 1/2 inch middling. This was up 12 points from the November figure. However, the interest of traders focused more on the mid-January parity figure when the modernized parity formula will succeed the present one.

Futures closed 20 cents a bale higher to 25 cents lower than the previous close.

Industrials Hit All-Time High At '55 Market Close

NEW YORK, Dec. 30 (AP)—Industrial shares ran up to an all-time record high in their average in the stock market session of 1955 Friday.

The average decisively pierced the former high set on Dec. 8. The gains held with demand developing late in the day for several blue chips such as DuPont which rose nearly 3 points.

All groups participated. Better performers included the metals, oils, individual issues in the rail, television, pharmaceutical, tire, liquor, tobacco, aircraft, and mercantile groups.

Steels moved ahead and the motors registered small net gains. Some special issues had wide gains including Rohm & Haas which ran up 15 to a new high at 410. International Business Machines, up 5; Warren Foundry, up 3 1/2; U.S. Gypsum, up 5; and Babcock & Wilcox, up 3 1/2.

Gains of 2 to 4 points appeared in Norwich Pharmacal, Zenith, Aluminum, Ltd., Alcoa, Cerro de Pasco, Continental Oil, Ex-Cell-O, Kansas City Southern, Southern Railway, Texas Co., Safeway Stores Preferred, and Minnesota Mining.

Big volume came into Sears Roebuck, General Motors, General Electric, International Telephone and Electric & Musical Industries.

Railroad shares, though missing their 1955 high mark, registered a better percentage rise than the industrials. Utilities gained slightly.

The market improvement reflected an end of year-end cross currents of selling for tax purposes. There still was some selling to establish profits for the 1955 income tax return, losses for 1955, and crash sales to set profits for 1955.

But the market easily absorbed this selling and moved up. Trading showed a sharp rise for the day and lifted sales for the year to a new high for any year since 1933. Two more days like Friday would have left the 1955 sales total at its best level since 1930, the third biggest year in stock market history.

Finds 'Hatred And Bigotry'

Oregon Solon Writes Of 'Discouragement' After Visiting In Mississippi

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore) today wrote her constituents that she was "profoundly discouraged" by a recent visit to Mississippi.

She wrote in her weekly letter to Oregon that "hatred and bigotry, bitterness and despair are growing" in Mississippi.

She compared Mississippi with Puerto Rico, saying poverty exists in both places but there is no cheerfulness in Mississippi, no hope.

But she told Jackson Daily News reporter Lamar Falkner in a telephone interview that she based her charges on a two-day visit to Jackson and "books I've read."

"It was my first visit to Mississippi," she told Falkner, adding that her husband had routed their trip from Portland, Ore., to Washington through to South "to see for ourselves what is going on there."

They had a minor automobile accident on the outskirts of Jackson Christmas Eve and spent two days in Mississippi's capital awaiting repairs.

Meanwhile, she and her husband toured the city alone.

She wrote to Oregon that a "colored-trained young colored girl running an elevator for $18 a week told me, 'If I ever get in trouble, I won't bother with a court. They can just skip that and punish me. Justice is for white people in Mississippi.'"

"A colored mother tells her daughter, 'Don't think your 10 cents entitles you to ride on the city bus. If you get in an argument with the driver, don't argue—just get off."

"This is what the young learn of democracy in Mississippi's capital."

She told Falkner Oregon has "no discrimination. We have laws protecting minority groups."

Negroes, she continued, are Oregon's major minority group.

The World Almanac shows Oregon has 11,529 Negroes, two more than the 11,527 total population of Tupelo, Miss., and 36 less than the Negro population of Attala County, population more than 45 per cent of Mississippi's population is Negro.

Mrs. Green wrote that newspapers in Mississippi "reflect this climate (of bigotry and hatred) in pages full of the race problem. Opposition to segregation is denounced as 'jakkassery.'"

But she told Falkner that she referred to editorial comment rather than to news stories. She also added that segregation and the race problem is a major issue in Mississippi.

She told Falkner that there were "isolated cases of discrimination in other parts of the country, but none like in Mississippi."

She said Negroes in Jackson told her they were "not interested in integration but in the right to vote and justice in courts."

"These are inherent rights in a democracy. It seems to me that should be Mississippi's first step."

She was "appalled" by talk in Mississippi about nullifying the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation.

"I think the tension is a result of Mississippi's denying Negroes their inherent rights," she said, adding that Mississippi is the "storm center" of racial tensions.

"I think it is vital that those of us who live remote from the storm center take warning before it bursts upon us," she said. "There is a crisis in the South."

Grand Jury May Probe Bankrupt Texas Company

AUSTIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Friday alerted district attorneys for possible grand jury investigations in connection with the defunct U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., now in receivership.

The attorney general, in a memorandum to 13 district attorneys in areas where U.S. Trust & Guaranty maintained branch offices, called attention to the state's new insurance securities act which went into effect Sept. 6.

"The testimony at the trial of the case on the appointment of a receiver and subsequent investigations indicate rather flagrant violations of the insurance securities act," Shepperd wrote.

"The provisions of this act are called to your attention since it would be possible to proceed with an immediate grand jury investigation without the necessity of waiting for the completion of the audits which are underway by the various state departments," he added.

Shepperd was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

Contents of the letter were made available to newsmen by Les Procter, Travis county district attorney, who said he received the memorandum Friday.

District Judge Charles O. Betts last week, in clamping an injunction on U.S. Trust & Guaranty, called its operations "fraudulent" and said it was "born in sin."

Shepperd's letter to prosecuting authorities was headed: "Memorandum to: The district and county attorneys of the counties wherein U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co. was operating prior to Dec. 13, 1955."

The letter's subject matter was described as "Re: Possible criminal violations of the laws of the state of Texas."

The attorney general said the insurance securities law requires such securities to be sold by registered securities dealers. He said U.S. Trust & Guaranty was not licensed as a security dealer for sale of its "certified drafts."

"It would therefore appear that the persons who sold the certified drafts probably sold the security in violation of the act and are subject to criminal prosecution," Shepperd said.

The state's petition in the receivership proceeding against U.S. Trust & Guaranty, a Waco firm, listed 13 branch offices at Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Hillsboro, Houston, Lubbock, Sherman, San Antonio, Tyler and Waco.

U. S. Officer Gets Bottle Of Vodka As Russian Gift

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Russians succumbed to the New Year spirit today and almost got shot for their pains.

Maj. Gen. P. A. Dibrowa, the Soviet commandant of East Berlin, decided it was a good idea to send a bottle of vodka to the American commandant, Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., to start out 1956.

Toward the end of the day, a Soviet car roared up to American headquarters and started to go through the gate without identifying itself. An American soldier put his weapon at the ready position as he flagged the car down.

A Russian captain explained his mission and was permitted to proceed.

Gen. Dasher's office accepted the gift with thanks. Officers said Maj. Dibrowa would receive some American whisky in return.

Marie, the fourth surviving quint, remained in Montreal because she is convalescing from a recent illness. The fifth sister, Emilie, died in August, 1954.

Although adult bald eagles are heavier than young ones, the immature eagles often have larger dimensions because of longer feathers.

Bedding And Furniture Output Of Monroe Plant Worth $1,000,000 Yearly

Residents of the Twin City area, reared on talk of paper mills and petroleum plants, would perhaps be surprised to learn of another type factory here which is capable of turning out $1,000,000 in products a year.

The factory is that of the Supreme Bedding and Furniture Manufacturing Co. at 501 Texas Avenue, which has recently undergone extensive expansion.

Affiliated with Monroe Furniture Co. here, the plant's president is Joe Durrett, Sr., well known to most of the Twin City residents, and the plant superintendent is J. W. Cox, Jr.

Touring the plant for the first time this week, a News-Star reporter was surprised to learn that the plant employs 83 persons, whose business it is to make all types of upholstered furniture and bedding for sale in five states.

Besides those who work directly in the plant, which has 65,000 feet of floor space, there are about 12 more employees who drive trucks and make sales for the firm.

Joe Durrett, Jr., is sales manager. According to Durrett, Sr., sales are made throughout most of Louisiana, and in Texas, Oklahoma, Arkansas and Mississippi. With the new expansion, he said, the plant is capable of turning out $1,000,000 worth of furniture each year.

The plant buys lumber from which to make the wood used in construction of chairs, sofas, beds and the like and cotton to turn into felt for stuffing inside the furniture.

One of the most unusual of the many intricate machines used in the plant is the felt-making machine, which "weaves" pure cotton into the much more durable felt.

Starting at one end of the plant with the board lumber, men and machines rapidly begin construction.

Through the years it has expanded to its present capacity, with the most recent expansion just completed, and Durrett says he hopes he can expand again within the near future.

Earlier Washings Urged 4 Monroe Clothes Lines Raided By Night Thieves

Chief of Detectives Hugh Tolbert requested yesterday that Monroians refrain from leaving clothing on clothes lines overnight, his request following in the wake of four reported clothes line clothing thefts Thursday night.

It is impossible for patrol cars to observe the backyards of people and thus prevent such thefts, Chief Tolbert added. He suggested that people quit washing so late in the day that night-time drying is required. A number of such thefts have been reported previously, he pointed out.

Owners of clothes lines raided Thursday night and items reported taken were listed as follows:

Frank L. Shope, 1209 South Fourth Street, three sports shirts, three suits of men's underwear, and unknown number of panties, four dozen diapers, some baby shirts and other items.

Mrs. Fred C. 1014 South Fifth Street, Monroe, a T shirt, a sports shirt, three blouses, three dresses, six panties, two undershirts, two slips and one pair of blue jeans.

Mrs. C. R. Faust, 1010 South Fifth Street, four pairs of blue jeans for three-year-old boy, approximately two dozen diapers, and an unknown number of T shirts and training pants.

And Mrs. W. A. Lowery, 1023 Mississippi, six large bath towels, five wash clothes, and two ladies' chenille robes, size 14, one pink and the other faded blue.

Two new applications to drill, one in the Locust Ridge field of Tensas parish and the other in the Big Island field of Rapides parish, were filed yesterday with the Monroe District office of the State of Louisiana Department of Conservation.

The Locust Ridge application is for the Southern Natural Gas Co., Watson State of Louisiana Unit No. 1, to be drilled directionally to a depth of 9200 feet in Sec. 28-10-11E. The Big Island location is for the Republic Natural Gas Co. et al. 1-3E, contract depth 6,000 feet to test the Wilcox.

H. L. Rowley is contractor for both proposed ventures.

He declared that such a team is composed of himself and Lt. Gov. C. E. "Cap" Barham, candidate for re-election on the Morrison ticket.

Morrison spoke before a meeting of a score of workers at his state campaign headquarters, 206 St. Charles St. before leaving at mid-afternoon for Baton Rouge, where he and Barham were to appear on a telecast over Station WBRZ and to attend a rally of the L.S.U. chapter of students for Morrison.

"To bring the new year in with a real burst of activity to consolidate the independent forces and achieve victory in the first primary January 17."

He stated that "Louisiana is just itching to go ahead but needs progressive leadership to lead the way and chart our course for vast development."

Governors of Louisiana in the past, Morrison said, "have never concerned themselves directly and personally with anything that produces dollars for Louisiana."

"I recall in the case of the Kaiser Corporation negotiations," Morrison stated, "that we repeatedly invited members of the state government to attend our conferences to help in obtaining this new industry. In the three months of negotiations that ensued during early 1951, the highest state official we ever had to attend was an assistant in the state's department of commerce and industry."

"Anything as important as getting a new $100 million industry should have called for the personal participation of the governor. But our governors have been much more interested in playing the political side than in exercising leadership."

"My record has been the complete opposite. There isn't a single project—civil, business or governmental—in this area that I haven't personally been a part of and aggressively promoted and helped in order to bring more business into our city."

He added:

"I know all the candidates are seizing on our program for a fully planned development of our state in each and every community. But their record in past years has been the complete opposite of what they say today."

"In fact, the old ring did everything it could to drive business away from Louisiana instead of encouraging it to come here."

Latin America, including the West Indies, is estimated to have approximately 173 million people. This is about the combined total of Canada and the United States.

appears to be narrowing a bit, with somewhat less division of power at the top. More undoubtedly will be learned about this in February when the Soviet Communist party holds its 20th congress. In foreign affairs the Kremlin can be expected to keep up the pressure on "colonial" areas without yielding in its terms on German reunification and European security.

China: There probably will be a major campaign to push the Red Chinese into the United Nations and push the Nationalists out. Peiping is not likely to upset the plebiscite by rash moves against Formosa, but it probably will threaten these as a means of packing other nations into giving the Communists their way.

The Middle East: The Israel-Arab situation can explode into a small war unless some drastic action, such as affirmative moves by the United Nations, is undertaken. Soviet attacks on Israel have not helped the situation.

Europe: For at least another year, Moscow is likely to maintain the status quo, because its primary interests are in the East.

War and Peace: World War III is unlikely, but the cold war seems about to become colder.

STOCK MARKET CLOSED Merrill, Lynch, Pierce, Fenner and Beane, local brokerage house announced Friday that they would not be open Monday Jan. 2 as the New York Stock Exchange will be closed on that date.

There were 36,000 deaths in 1954 due to motor vehicle accidents, along with 1,250,000 injuries, at a total cost of $4,400,000,000 according to the National Safety Council.

Finds 'Hatred And Bigotry'

Oregon Solon Writes Of 'Discouragement' After Visiting In Mississippi

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 (AP)—Rep. Edith Green (D-Ore.) today wrote her constituents that she was "profoundly discouraged" by a recent visit to Mississippi.

She wrote in her weekly letter to Oregon that "hatred and bigotry, bitterness and despair are growing" in Mississippi.

She compared Mississippi with Puerto Rico, saying poverty exists in both places but there is no cheerfulness in Mississippi, no hope.

But she told Jackson Daily News reporter Lamar Falkner in a telephone interview that she based her charges on a two-day visit to Jackson and "books I've read."

"It was my first visit to Mississippi," she told Falkner, adding she and her husband had routed their trip from Portland, Ore., to Washington through to South "to see for ourselves what is going on there."

They had a minor automobile accident on the outskirts of Jackson Christmas Eve and spent two days in Mississippi's capital awaiting repairs.

Meanwhile, she and her husband toured the city alone.

She wrote to Oregon that a "college-trained young colored girl running an elevator for $18 a week told me, 'If I ever get in trouble, I won't bother with a court. They can just skip that and punish me. Justice is for white people in Mississippi!'"

"A colored mother tells her daughter, 'Don't think you're entitled to ride on the (city) bus. If you get in an argument

Grand Jury May Probe Bankrupt Texas Company

AUSTIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—Attorney General John Ben Shepperd Friday alerted district attorneys for possible grand jury investigations in connection with the defunct U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co., now in receivership.

The attorney general, in a memorandum to 13 district attorneys in areas where U.S. Trust & Guaranty maintained branch offices, called attention to the state's new insurance securities act which went into effect Sept. 6.

"The testimony at the trial of the case on the appointment of a receiver and subsequent investigations indicate rather flagrant violations of the insurance securities act," Shepperd wrote.

"The provisions of this act are called to your attention since it would be possible to proceed with an immediate grand jury investigation without the necessity of waiting for the completion of the audits which are underway by the various state departments," he added.

Shepperd was out of the city and unavailable for comment.

Contents of the letter were made available to newsmen by Los Proctor, Travis county district attorney, who said he received the memorandum Friday.

District Judge Charles O. Betts last week, in clamping an injunction on U.S. Trust & Guaranty, called its operations "fraudulent" and said it was "born in sin."

Shepperd's letter to prosecuting authorities was headed: "Memorandum to: The district and county attorneys of the counties wherein U.S. Trust & Guaranty Co. was operating prior to Dec. 13, 1955."

The letter's subject matter was described as "Re: Possible criminal violations of the laws of the state of Texas."

The attorney general said the new insurance securities law requires such securities to be sold by registered securities dealers. He said U.S. Trust & Guaranty was not licensed as a security dealer for sale of its "certified drafts."

"It would therefore appear that the persons who sold the certified drafts probably sold the security in violation of the act and are subject to criminal prosecution," Shepperd said.

The state's petition in the receivership proceeding against U.S. Trust & Guaranty, a Waco firm, listed 13 branch offices—at Austin, Beaumont, Corpus Christi, Dallas, El Paso, Fort Worth, Hillsboro, Houston, Lubbock, Sherman, San Antonio, Tyler and Waco.

U. S. Officer Gets Bottle Of Vodka As Russian Gift

BERLIN, Dec. 30 (AP)—The Russians succumbed to the New Year spirit today and almost got shot for their pains.

Maj. Gen. P. A. Dibrova, the Soviet commandant of East Berlin, decided it was a good idea to send a bottle of vodka to the American commander, Maj. Gen. Charles L. Dasher Jr., to start out 1956.

Toward the end of the day, a Soviet car roared up to American headquarters and started to go through the gate without identifying itself. An American soldier put his weapon at the ready position as he flagged the car down. A Russian captain explained his mission and was permitted to proceed.

Gen. Dasher's office accepted the bottle with thanks. Officers said Gen. Dibrova would receive some American whisky in return.

with the driver, don't argue—just get off."

"This is what the young learn of democracy in Mississippi's capital."

She told Falkner Oregon has "no discrimination. We have laws protecting minority groups."

Negroes, she continued, are Oregon's major minority group.

The World Almanac shows Oregon has 11,529 Negroes, two more than the 11,527 total population of Tupelo, Miss., and 36 less than the Negro population of Attala County, population more than 45 per cent of Mississippi's population is Negro.

Mrs. Green wrote that newspapers in Mississippi "reflect this climate of bigotry and hatred" in pages full of the race problem. Opposition to segregation is denounced as "jackassery."

But she told Falkner that she referred to editorial comment rather than to news stories. She also added that segregation and the race problem is a major issue in Mississippi.

She told Falkner that there were "isolated cases of discrimination in other parts of the country, but none like in Mississippi."

She said Negroes in Jackson told her they were "not interested in integration but in the right to vote and justice in courts."

"These are inherent rights in a democracy. It seems to me that should be Mississippi's first step."

She was "appalled" by talk in Mississippi about nullifying the U. S. Supreme Court decision outlawing segregation.

"I think the tension is a result of Mississippi's denying Negroes their inherent rights," she said, adding that Mississippi is the "storm center" of racial tensions.

"I think it is vital that those of us who live remote from the storm center take warning before it bursts upon us," she said. "There is a crisis in the South."

Louis Smith To Participate At Bar Conference

Louis D. Smith, local attorney, will participate on the program of a three-day conference of local Bar Associations to be held in Lafayette, beginning January 26, according to Joseph O'neale, of Lafayette, who is general chairman of the conference.

The fifth conference of its kind, the meet under the auspices of sections and committees of the organization.

It was emphasized that women are especially invited to attend the conference sessions.

William Young, president of the Louisiana State Bar Association, will open the three-day meeting with the introduction of Lafayette Mayor Ashton J. Mouton and William H. Mouton, president of the Lafayette Bar Association, both of whom will make welcome addresses.

The response will be made by J. E. Bass, Jr., of Lake Charles.

Smith, the Monroe attorney, will participate in a panel to discuss "Local Aspects of Public Relations."

Social features will include a cocktail party on the evening of January 26; ladies' luncheon and style show at noon on January 27; and the buffet supper and dance will be held on the night of January 27.

The conference closes 12 noon, January 28.

Quints Patch Up Their Family Rift

NORTH BAY, Ont., Dec. 30 (AP)—The surviving Dionne quintuplets and their parents patched up their differences today. They said in a joint statement any rift between them was due to a misunderstanding.

Three of the quintuplets arrived home this morning to talk over the family troubles. Olivia Dionne, the girls' father, complained Tuesday that for the first time in their lives they had not spent Christmas at home.

He asserted that his four famous daughters were drifting away from their parents and blamed so-called outsiders whom he would not identify.

Yvonne, Cecile and Annette reached their home at nearby Calander before daybreak after a drive over 350 miles of icy highway from Montreal.

Dionne issued the statement in a telephone call to the North Bay Nugget and then each of the girls came to the phone and said she approved it. He said:

"This afternoon we all discussed this trouble we have been having and we now feel it was all due to a misunderstanding. There was a misunderstanding somewhere and it has been ironed out."

The girls said they were certain their sister Marie agreed to the statement.

Marie, the fourth surviving quintuplet, remained in Montreal because she is convalescing from a recent illness. The fifth sister, Emilie, died in August, 1954.

U. S. Foreign Policy To Face Critical '56 Tests

By WILLIAM L. RYAN
AP Foreign News Analyst

EDITOR'S NOTE: This is the last of three columns discussing events of 1955 and prospects for 1956.

For a variety of reasons, 1956 is likely to be a tough and even critical year for American foreign policy.

In a year of campaigning for the presidential elections, bold Soviet moves on the world stage can be difficult to counter, and bold Soviet moves can be expected.

The tone of Communist boss Khrushchev's speech Thursday seemed a clear indication that Moscow's policy is going to become more tough and unyielding on issues affecting Europe, such as security and German reunification.

With "anticolonialism" as its battle cry, Moscow apparently is prepared to become even more aggressive in its moves affecting Asia and the Middle East.

The Soviet Union probably is planning some maneuvers with regard to the limitation of armaments and control of nuclear weapons, in an attempt to make capital to the phone and said she approved it. He said:

"This afternoon we all discussed this trouble we have been having and we now feel it was all due to a misunderstanding. There was a misunderstanding somewhere and it has been ironed out."

The girls said they were certain their sister Marie agreed to the statement.

Durante To Pay Tribute To Late Partner On TV

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 —UP— One of the "stars" on Jimmy Durante's television show Saturday night will get no salary, costumes or dialogue and at the end of the program will disappear forever.

This guest is a moving spot of light. It will weave across the floor while in the background you'll hear a soft shoe routine from some unseen dancer.

That spotlight represents one of the greatest acts and one of the longest friendships in show business.

To a sentimental Jimmy the light is a tribute to his one-time partner, Lou Clayton, who died five years ago. And it's the realization of a long-time ambition.

The story of the spotlight began in 1923 when Durante and Eddie Jackson, the "strutter" on his TV show, were running the Club Durant in New York. Clayton, a vaudeville headliner, came to the speakeasy above a garage one January night. He had just lost $35,000 in a floating crap game on 57th Street.

"He was the greatest soft shoe dancer in the business," raved Jimmy Saturday. "A good friend put up some money for him—and he bought into our club."

The act became Clayton, Jackson and Durante. The trio became the sensation of those roaring speaker days. Then in 1931 the act broke up when Jimmy received a movie offer from MGM.

"I didn't know what to do," said Jimmy. "Lou advised me to go to California. 'Go on, that's best for you,' he said."

"Then he threw his shoes away and became my manager."

In Hollywood friends change with the size of your bank account and the reviews of your latest picture. But Lou, Jimmy and Eddie, who followed later, remained close friends.

"Fine gentlemen, great boys, one hundred per cent pals," said Jimmy. "You don't see that kind very often. Lou was at my house every day. Sometimes he stayed all night and would be wailing when I got home. He was my protector-for-life."

In September, 1950, Clayton died of cancer with Durante at his bedside.

Jackson stayed with Durante and appears on his TV show and his nightclub act. Jack Roth, the drummer with Durante, also has played for him for 40 years.

Two years ago on a live TV show Eddie and Jimmy danced again with Clayton via the moving spotlight. Saturday night they'll repeat the bit because Jimmy wanted it on one of his filmed NBC-TV shows.

"I'm glad I got it on film," said the schnoz. "Now I can keep it forever."

"Every time I see this spotlight chills go up my spine."

Nation's Rice Acreage Quotas Cut 15 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—The national acreage allotment for the 1956 rice crop was cut 15 per cent today by the Agriculture Department. The price support rate was dropped 10 per cent to 75 per cent of parity.

The department also proclaimed a national marketing quota on the allotted acreage and set Jan. 27 as the date for a referendum to determine producer approval or disapproval of quotas.

The department set the national acreage allotments at 1,639,084 acres. This compares with 1,928,334 for the 1955 rice crop. The cut of 15 per cent was the maximum allowed by law.

The minimum support price was set at $1.04 a 100 pounds. This is 75 per cent of parity. For the 1955 rice crop, the support price was $1.66, or 85 per cent of parity.

The department said the acreage allotment was designed to produce with average yields a crop of about 12,600,000 hundredweight.

The national acreage allotment has been apportioned among the 13 rice-producing states on the basis of average acreage of rice in each state during the 1951-55 period with adjustments for trends in acreage during that period.

State rice acreage allotments for 1956 and the final allotments for 1955, respectively, include:

Arkansas, 399,084 and 453,850; Louisiana, 460,704 and 558,934; Mississippi, 41,422 and 54,921; Tennessee, 517 and 605; and Texas, 421,209 and 496,929.

In addition the national reserve was set at 12,293 acres for 1956.

The color red does not infuriate a bull any more than green, blue or white. It is the movement that attracts his charge. The bull, like many other animals, is color blind.

Farm Prices Register New Decline For Dec.

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—The Agriculture Department reported Friday that sagging farm prices, already a hot political issue, continued to decline last month.

The department said prices realized by farmers for their crops and livestock dropped one per cent during the month ended Dec. 15 to a point 7 per cent below a year ago.

Meantime, farmers' production and living costs remained unchanged. As a result, the farm parity ratio stood at 80 per cent in mid-December — its lowest level since September, 1940.

The parity ratio in mid-December compared with 81 per cent in mid-November and 86 per cent a year ago.

The report was certain to draw new fire from Democrats who charge that the farm price decline is due to Agriculture Secretary Ezra Taft Benson's flexible price support program. They want to return to rigid high 90 per cent supports.

Republicans have retorted that the farm price decline is the result of farm surpluses built up under Democrats during their 20 years of national control. Both sides are preparing for a showdown in the new session of Congress beginning Tuesday.

Meantime, the Agriculture Department announced that it has cut acreage allotments and price supports for the 1956 rice crop the maximum amount permitted under the law.

It pegged the 1956 allotment at 1,639,084 acres, down 15 per cent from this year's allotment of 1,928,334 acres. Price supports were slashed from 90 to 75 per cent of the "fair" parity price.

The Agriculture Department attributed last month's average price drop primarily to declines in the price of hogs, cattle and cotton. It said a one per cent rise in the crop index was more than offset by a 3 per cent skid in the livestock index.

The note said the student has branded the hospital a "hell" and that he has expressed the hope of returning "to the arms of my mother country as early as possible."

It was the first complaint by Red China, unofficially identifying a Chinese national who, the Communists said, is being prevented from returning to his homeland.

The department identified the student as Liu Yung-Ming, a patient at the Missouri State Hospital at Farmington, Mo. It said he was committed by court order in 1949 while attending the University of Missouri.

It said hospital physicians said he was suffering from chronic schizophrenia.

The Chinese complaint said that before his commitment, Liu sought permission to return to China in May, 1949. But instead, it added, he was declared a mental case.

January Outlook For Temperatures 'Above Normal'

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—The Weather Bureau said today its 30-day outlook for January calls for temperatures to average below seasonal normals in the eastern third of the nation.

Above normal temperatures are indicated from the Mississippi westward to the Pacific with greatest departures in the southern Rockies, the bureau said.

Precipitation is expected to be near or above normal in the Southwest and along the west coast. In the remainder of the country generally subnormal amounts are predicted, the bureau added.

Complaint By Red China On Student Patient Studied

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—The State Department disclosed Friday that it is studying a complaint by Communist China that a Chinese student is being detained in a Missouri mental hospital despite his desire to return to his homeland.

It said the Chinese complaint was contained in a note handed earlier this week to American diplomats in Geneva, Switzerland, where this country has been negotiating with Red China for a return of Americans held by the Communists.

The note said the student has branded the hospital a "hell" and that he has expressed the hope of returning "to the arms of my mother country as early as possible."

House Group To Query Hutchins On 'Fund' Views

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—Chairman Francis E. Walter (D-Pa.) said Friday his House Un-American Activities committee intends to question Robert M. Hutchins about the views of the Fund for the Republic on communism and congressional investigations.

Walter said Hutchins, director of the Ford-financed fund, probably will testify at a public hearing.

The committee staff, he added, has begun an inquiry into a fund report calling the Communist party a political organization and criticizing congressional investigators for branding it part of an international conspiracy.

Walter said the committee plans to begin hearings as soon as it completes its current investigation of alleged communism within the National Labor Relations Board.

"It is inconceivable," he said, "that the heads of such an organization could be so naive as to believe that the Communist party is a political party in the usual sense of the word."

Walter emphasized that the committee is not investigating the fund as such. But he said it intends to find out why the fund is following what he said is the Communist party line in this instance.

Sgt. York Asks Extra Pension Of Medal Winners

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP—Sgt. Alvin York, World War I hero, has applied for the pension that goes with his Medal of Honor.

The famous former soldier wrote the Army from his home at Wolf River, Tenn., recently, asking about the extra pension to which the Medal of Honor winners are entitled upon reaching the age of 65. Durante To Pay Tribute To Late Partner On TV

By ALINE MOSBY

HOLLYWOOD, Dec. 30 —UP— One of the "stars" on Jimmy Durante's television show Saturday night will get no salary, costumes or dialogue and at the end of the program will disappear forever.

This guest is a moving spot of light. It will weave across the floor while in the background you'll hear a soft shoe routine from some unseen dancer.

That spotlight represents one of the greatest acts and one of the longest friendships in show business.

To a sentimental Jimmy the light is a tribute to his one-time partner, Lou Clayton, who died five years ago. And it's the realization of a long-time ambition.

The story of the spotlight began in 1923 when Durante and Eddie Jackson, the "strut" on his TV show, were running the Club Durant in New York. Clayton, a vaudeville headliner, came to the speakeasy above a garage one January night. He had just lost $95,000 in a floating crap game on 57th Street.

"He was the greatest soft shoe dancer in the business," rasped Jimmy Saturday. "A good friend put up some money for him—and he bought into our club."

The act became Clayton, Jackson and Durante. The trio became the sensation of those roaring speakeasy days. Then in 1931 the act broke up when Jimmy received a movie offer from MGM.

"I didn't know what to do," said Jimmy. "Lou advised me to go to California. 'Go on, that's best for ya,' he said."

"Then he threw his shoes away and became my manager."

In Hollywood friends change with the size of your bank account and the reviews of your latest picture. But Lou, Jimmy and Eddie, who followed later, remained close friends.

"Fine gentlemen, great boys, one hundred per cent pals," said Jimmy. "You don't see that kind very often. Lou was at my house every day. Sometimes he stayed all night and would be waiting when I got home. He was my protect-er-ate."

In September, 1950, Clayton died of cancer with Durante at his bedside. Jackson stayed with Durante and appears on his TV show and his nightclub act. Jack Roth, the drummer with Durante, also has played for him for 40 years.

Two years ago on a live TV show Eddie and Jimmy danced again with Clayton via the moving spotlight. Saturday night they'll repeat the bit because Jimmy wanted it on one of his filmed NBC-TV shows.

"I'm glad I got it on film," said the schnoz. "Now I can keep it forever."

"Every time I see this spotlight chills go up my spine."

Nation's Rice Acreage Quotas Cut 15 Per Cent

WASHINGTON, Dec. 30 —UP— The national acreage allotment for the 1956 rice crop was cut 15 per cent today by the Agriculture Department. The price support rate was dropped by 10 per cent to 75 per cent of parity.

The department also proclaimed a national marketing quota on the allotted acreage and set Jan. 27 as the date for a referendum to determine producer approval or disapproval of quotas.

The department set the national acreage allotments at 1,639,084 acres. This compares with 1,928,334 for the 1955 rice crop. The cut of 15 per cent was the maximum allowed by law.

The minimum support price was set at $4.04 a 100 pounds. This is 75 per cent of parity. For the 1955 rice crop, the support price was $4.66, or 85 per cent of parity.

The department said the acreage allotment was designed to produce with average yields a crop of about 42,600,000 hundredweight.

The national acreage allotment has been apportioned among the 13 rice-producing states on the basis of average acreage of rice in each state during the 1931-35 period with adjustments for trends in acreage during that period.

State rice acreage allotments for 1956 and the final allotments for 1955, respectively, include:

Arkansas, 399,084 and 453,850; Louisiana, 460,704 and 558,934; Mississippi, 41,422 and 54,921; Tennessee, 517 and 605; and Texas, 421,360 and 496,929.

In addition the national reserve was set at 12,293 acres for 1956.
